SUSPICIOUS MOVEMENTS.

British, Russian and Japanese Warships in Corean Waters.

There is Trouble Ahead and It Will Probably be a Three-Cornered Affair if It Comes to Fighting.

LONDON, Oct 24.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that a Russian squadron of war ships le't Vladisvostock for Chempulo and Fusan. The Japanese fleet in Formosa waters, it is also stated, has been recalled, and it is announced on excellent authority that several British war ships have been ordered to sail for Corea. It is stated at Shanghai that Japan's reply to the demand of Russia that the former evacuate Corea is couched in pacific, but firm language, and protests against dictation by Russia in Corean affairs. It is regarded at Shanghai as certain that Russia will permanently occupy Fusan. The Shanghai dispatch says that the situation of affairs is most grave and that preparations for the expected struggle are visible on all sides, but it is hoped that a solution of the difficulty will be found in Russia and Japan agreeing to divide Corea.

GROOM SUDDENLY DECLINES.

Singular Conduct of Charles A. Larson on His Wedding Day.

LOWELL, Ind., Oct. 24.—Yesterday was the appointed time when Rev. J. Sites was to marry Charles A. Larson, of Hebron, Ind., and Miss Laura Bates, of this city. Guests were invited from Chicago, Shelbyville, Ind, other places, and this city. Preparations were being completed to celebrate the occasion in style, when Larson appeared on the scene and positively refused to marry the girl. He offered no excuse, only that it was best that he not marry her. No one knows what prompted him to do as he has, but since it has transpired that Larson has fooled four women in a similar manner, one at Shelbyville, Ind., and two at Momence, Ill. Miss Bates is highly respected in society circles of this city, and the occurrence has caused her to become nearly prostrated with grief.

COSTLY LUXURY FOR HAWKINS.

Fleeced by an Actress and Tracked by His Wife.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 24.—Mrs. John Hawkins, of Niagara Falls, who followed her husband and a variety actress to this city, has succeeded by her hot pursuit in breaking up the affair. Hawkins was deserted here by the actress, and the detectives have an intimation that the elopement was a scheme planned by her and her husband to bleed Hawkins, and that they succeeded in capturing all the money he had. Hawkins discovered that his wife was after him and has fled to Buffalo, whither she has followed him.

PRACTICALLY ENDED

Is the Coal Strike in the Ohio Coal Fields.

MASSILLON, O., Oct. 24.—The coal strike in the Massillon district is practically at an end, the miners having been gradually resuming work for several days past without the consent of their organization leaders. In each case work has been resumed on the same terms as those under which the miners of the state at large are now employed. A mass meeting of the Massillon district miners will be held here Saturday.

SAW HOGS EAT HER CHILD.

All the Mother Could Save Was the Infant's Arm.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 24.—A State Register special says that the two-year-old child of Mrs. George Richards, of Ford county, was pulled into the hog pen by the hogs and devoured before the eyes of the mother, who, attracted by the child's screams, flew to the spot, but too late to render any assistance, though she caught an arm of the child, which the hogs then severed from the body.

Theatrical Fight.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 24.—There appears to be every prospect of a fight over the possession of Lady Sholto Douglass between two theatrical managers of this city. October 7, George C. Thompson and Ed Shea, of Boston, signed a two months contract with her ladyship at $25 a week and expenses, the contract to expire December 14. Thompson & Shea commenced making arrangements for a tour through the adjacent cities and towns. They were thunderstruck to learn that the Frawley company had signed her ladyship for the remainder of the season at a larger figure, alleged to be $300 a week, but really about $100. Thompson and his partner will seek legal means to protect their interests.

Senator Thurston.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 24.—The republican state central committee requested Senator Thurston to make a few speeches during the campaign but received a telegram today from San Diego saying that while the senator was improving slowly it was impossible for him to undertake any campaign work. A GRUESOME RELIC.

The Head of Oliver Cromwell Preserved in England.

For a Century it Has Been in the Possession of the Wilkeson Family at Sealchart.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 24.—The statement was recently cabled from London that the Liverpool Post claimed to have discovered the head of Oliver Cromwell in the possession of the Wilkeson family, in Sealchart, Kent, England. Col Samuel Church, author of the "Life of Cromwell," in an interview here today says the existence of this head had been known a full hundred years, and competent judges believe it to be genuine. When in London last summer, Colonel Church suggested to the editor of the Chronicle, the appointment of a committee of three experts of the Cromwell epoch to examine the head, and if they find no reasonable doubt of its authenticity, it should be given sepulchre under the Cromwell monument

ALASKA BOUNDARY.

The War Cry is "Ten Marine Leagues or Fight."

England Wants the Rich Mining Districts and is Scheming to Gain Her Point.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 24.—The agitation of the Alaska boundary question has been taken up bodily by the American residents of Juneau and a move is now being made to form a boundary club at that place to keep the people and the government fully alive to the danger of losing the invaluable Yukon mines. As already indicated the war cry "Ten Marine Leagues or Fight" is being sounded. The situation is given by G B. Swineheart, editor of the Alaska Mining Record, at Juneau, who is now in this city. "If England can get the Yukon country," he said, "she will be satisfied, and she hopes to accomplish that object by securing Dyea inlet as a port of entry. She will also try to obtain Annette Island, but will waive that and all other considerations in order to control the rich mines of the north. She would undoubtedly relinquish all claim to the rest of the territory to gain her end, and if she succeeds we might as well give up any claim on Alaska." W. Odis Smith, editor of the Alaskan, published at Sitka, is also in the city. He says: "All England wants is a seaport at the entrance to the Yukon country and she has raised this pretended claim on the southern boundary so that she may figure in the eyes of the world as magnanimous.

She will forego this claim magnanimously, if the United States will admit the claims she is setting up in the Chilicat country and let her have a seaport giving access to the Yukon.

But the boundary has long been established and I do not see why we should submit anything to arbitration."

KU CHENG EXECUTIONS.

Seven Murderers Pay the Penalty of Their Crimes.

VANCOUVER, B. C, Oct. 24.—The steamship Empress of Japan brings advices from the Orient as follows: A correspondent at Foo Chow sends the following account of the executions at Ku Cheng, on the morning of the 17th: Seven of the murderers were executed at the south gate of the city. All the members of the commission were present with the exception of Capt. Newell and Rev. Bannister. The scene was a grusome one, only one head being severed at the first blow, the others being chopped and the unfortunate wretches left to die. The executions take place quite suddenly, the Tao Tai on the previous day announcing that he had received a telegram from the viceroy authorizing the executions. Since then the names of sixteen more criminals have been communicated to the viceroy for execution. The Mohammedan rebels in Kangsu are increasing in strength. The soldiers sent to quell the rebellion are joining the rebels. The Mollim rebels are rumored to be dispersing, but there is no authentic information from Swatow. The marauders in southwest Kwang Tung, are still holding their own.

Authorities of Indiana Investigating a Case of Murder.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—For several days there has been great excitement near Pigeon, in Spencer county, over the death of Sallie Davis, twenty-four years old, who made her home with Martin Taylor, an uncle. Two women who dressed the body for the grave found it covered with bruises, and the coroner was notified. The girl lived as a member of Taylor's family. Yesterday a verdict was returned that she had been beaten to death. Pigeon is a little village, the center of an isolated neighborhood, some miles distant from Rockport, the county seat. The death occurred several days ago, but the affair was slow in reaching the authorities.

Menkhausen was convicted of poisoning his wife, and was sentenced to die. Governor Altgeld commuted his sentence to a life term. The main motive advanced by the state to secure Menkhausen's conviction was his desire for the insurance money.

THE LAST DAY.

The Charity Conference Will Close This Evening.

Child Saving Work Was the Topic of Last Night's Meeting—The Proceedings Today.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates to the Indiana state conference of charities and correction were treated to a drive about the city. They visited the various public institutions. A large number were entertained by Superintendent Felts, at the county Infirmary.

The evening session was as largely attended as any of the previous meetings.

Rev. J. H. Guendling, of Lafayette, offered prayer, after which Mrs. Goodhart, of Indianapolis, read a paper on "Child Saving." Mrs. Goodhart said: "Neglect of child life from whatever cause, or in whatever condition of society, is fraught with disaster to the child, and is too often the stepping stone to vice and crime. The orphan asylums that dot our fair state are evidences of the philanthropic spirit that pervades it. Our public schools and free kindergartens are doing a noble work in the way of prevention, and yet notwithstanding the armies of little children who are being cared for through these agencies there are many young lives growing rank and running to waste as a result of pernicious teaching and evil association. Obedient to the will of the people, the general assembly of 1889 passed an act intitled, 'an act to establish a board of children's guardians in townships having a population of 75,000 people,' and in 1891 the act was amended and its provisions extended to counties having a like population. When a parent neglects to perform the duties of a parent he should not have the privileges of one. When he beggars and degrades his child, society suffers and it has the right to defend itself in whatever way it may seem best. If the state has the right to punish crime, it has the right to prevent it. If it has the right to imprison or to hang a man, it has the right to remove children from conditions that will make them criminal."

Mrs. M. T. Dykeman, of Logansport, read a paper on the subject of "Dependent Children." The subject was discussed by Mrs. Dykeman in a most interesting manner and all who heard her paper profited thereby.

Mrs. Dykeman thought a child should not be kept in an institution after they were twelve years of age. Good homes should be provided for them as soon as they can be found. Her paper was full and running over with good things.

Rev. Father Guendling, superintendent of St. Joseph's Orphans' home, of Lafayette, had as the subject of his paper, "Catholic Orphanges."

Charity, he said, is the distinguishing incentive which has actuated Christianity, the Christian church and its members. It is the highest, the purest, the most perfect motive for good, the corner stone of the Christian church, for without charity Christianity could not exist. There are 256 sisters of charity in the state. In 1894 they cared for 4,900 poor, suffering and forsaken persons. Their orphan asylums sheltered and nourished nearly 500 children, all of whom look up to and regard the "sisters" with the same love and affection usually lavished on parents. It is this which makes the management a task of comparative ease. Rev. Guendling stated that the children who are able to learn are taught a trade in order that they may become self supporting.

H. Bamberger, of Indianapolis, a prominent Jewish merchant, was called upon to speak and he explained in a concise but comprehensive manner the charity work that is done by his people. Mr. Bamberger was frequently applauded during his remarks.

TODAY'S SESSION.

This morning's session was opened by prayer by Timothy Nicholson. The election of officers then took place for the coming year, and resulted as follows:

President—Timothy Nicholson, Richmond.

Secretary—J. W. Tingle.

Executive Committee—John Howard, Winchester; Rev. John R. Quinlan, Fort Wayne; E. P. Bicknell, Indianapolis.

The paper that attracted the most attention during the morning session, was the one on "How Shall Prison Labor be Utilized so as Not to Compete With Free Labor," by W. C. Ball, editor of the Terre Haute Gazette. The paper contained many very valuable suggestions. Mr. Ball is in favor of having all the school books for the state printed in the northern and southern prison and furnished to the children of the state at almost cost price. He also wanted all the shoes, clothes, etc., for the inmates of the poor houses and different institutions made there. The paper contained many reforms that we hope will some day be put in operation.

Hon. Levi Mock, of Bluffton, who had a paper on "Criminal Responsibility," was not present but his paper was read by Superintendent Glascock, of the School for the Blind. It contained many good points

Miss Laura Ream, on account of sickness, was prevented being present and her paper was read by Secretary Bicknell.

The conference closes tonight The last session will be held in the chapel of the Institute for Feeble Minded Youths.

WESTMINSTER WINS.

The Damage Suit Against the Institution Dismissed

Because the Proper Parties Had Not Been Sued—News in the City Courts.

The trial of the case of Henry Diebold, administrator of the estate of Clara Diebold against the Westminster Seminary for $15,000 damages was begun before Judge O'Rourke and a jury in the circuit court this morning, but came to an abrupt end almost before it had been fairly underway, by the plaintiff's attorneys dismissing the action.

The father of Clara Diebold, it will be remembered, had brought the action against the Westminster Seminary for damages for the death of his daughter, who had suffered injuries from a sewer gas explosion which occurred at the seminary on account of an alleged defect in the pipes.

The plaintiffs' attorneys placed Miss Carrie B. Sharp and Mr. Hoffman on the stand to prove the incorporation, when it developed that they had commenced accident against the wrong parties, the association owning the building in which the action had occurred being the Westminster Seminary association instead of the Westminister seminary, as named in the complaint, and that the latter were merely tenants of the former.

The plaintiffs' attorneys, J. M. Robinson and Colerick & France, as soon as the proof developed these facts, dismissed the action. A new suit against the Westminster Seminary association may be instituted, but this will probably not be done.

Zollars & Worden were the attorneys for the defendants.

Councilmen Loesch, Summers and Waltemath composed the committee on public health, which was instructed at Tuesday night's council meeting, to look into the matter and formulate some plan for preventing the spread of the diphtheria epidemic, reported to the council as follows:

"We, your committee on health, respectfully submit this, and accompanying ordinance, as our report, after hearing the various physicians who appeared before open council, October 22, and also after meeting the committee of physicians appointed by the Allen County Medical society for the purpose of conferring with the council in regard to the conditions of health of this city and suppressing the contagion of diphtheria, have come to the conclusion that the board of public health be empowered to give the bacteriologist extra power in order to thoroughly carry out the necessary order.

"We also met with the board of health at their regular session this 10 a. m., and find by looking over their reports for the month of September that there were eight cases reported to them in the city of Fort Wayne, and further find since this epidemic has appeared, that they have taken precaution and ordered a reasonable quantity of anti toxine for their use in abating diphtheria, and have exercised all the powers that they have to prevent any further spread of the disease

"We further find that the board of health has not enough money appropriated to hire more than one sanitary policeman to watch over all the territory within our city, and that one man can not take care of efficiently, so much territory, and especially this is so where an epidemic is threatening.

We think that if the council will appropriate five hundred dollars ($500) for the purpose of hiring additional sanitary police, and that the board of health will place those sanitary police under the direction of the bacteriologist that our city will soon be almost entirely rid of the contagion.

"As to establishing a hospital for the treatment of contagious diseases, we think it advisable that the Allen County Medical society confer with the board of public health."

Dr. Geo. B. Stemen on behalf of the board of health, addressed the council and said: We have today twenty-six cases in Fort Wayne, all told. We have had during the year, that is, from the 1st of January until the present time, ninety-three cases of diphtheria. Out of 251 cases reported by the different physicians of the city, only ninety-three cases, after being examined by the bacteriologist, proved to be diphtheria, which clearly shows the value of maintaining a bacteriological department in the city. We have had 158 families who have not had to be quarantined after an examination was made by the bacteriologist. Last year, there were at different times, more cases than we have at the present time. In one month last year we had sixty-five cases, while the highest we have had in one month this year, has been twenty-six cases.

Drs. Buchman and C. B. Stemen and Councilmen McDonald and Tigar spoke in favor of increasing the salary of the city bacteriologist, it having been clearly demonstrated during the past summer that a necessity existed for the maintainance of such an office in this city, and on motion of Councilman Tigar the board of health and charities were instructed to increase the salary of the bacteriologist from $60 to $100 per month.

An ordinance appropriating $500 for the use of the board of public health and charities for additional sanitary police was passed.

HAD A FIGHT.

George Abdon and Anthony Weyer Pummel Each Other.

George Abdon, the plumber, and his brother-in-law, Anthony Weyer, had a rough and tumble scrap in and about Abdon's shop on Clinton street near Main yesterday afternoon. It will be remembered that Abdon sued his wife for divorce a few days ago. The trouble of yesterday grew out of that proceeding. Nobody was seriously hurt.

BIG ROBBERIES.

Thieves Make a Couple of Rich Hauls.

E. C. Rurode and John K. Ferguson the Losers.

About $500 Worth of Jewelry and Money Stolen at Rurode's—Ferguson's Loss is Smaller.

The largest robbery that has been committed in Fort Wayne for a good many days was the one last evening when the residence of E C. Rurode, No. 76 West Berry street, was visited by burglars.

The robbery is supposed to have been committed at about 6 o'clock, while the family was at dinner. Just how the thief effected an entrance to the house is not known. Nobody saw him come or go, but that he was there is a fact.

Two rooms were visited and ransacked. So far as is known the stolen articles consisted entirely of jewelry and money. The rooms from which they were taken were those of Misses Evelette and Emma Rurode.

So far as has been learned the money stolen amounted to about $50 while the jewelry, consisting of rings, pins, watches, etc., runs the total amount up to about $500. It may even exceed that figure.

There is no clue to the thief. He came and made his escape so successfully as to cover up every track.

ANOTHER ONE.

The residence of John K. Ferguson, on West Wayne street, was burglarized about 4:30 yesterday afternoon. A thief entered the back door and ransacked the room of Mrs. Baughman, the housekeeper, stealing $20 in money and a gold watch. Then he visited Mrs. Ferguson's room and took a valuable diamond pin off the dressing case. Mrs. Ferguson was asleep in her room at the time and is confident that the burglary was committed about the time mentioned. There is no clue.

LACK OF HARMONY

In the Board of Public Works of the City.

Resignation of Levi Griffith Asked For—Willis Hattersley Sends in His Resignation.

Mr. Levi Griffith, one of the members of the board of public works, has received the following communication from Mayor Oakley, asking for his resignation:

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 23, '95.

Levi Griffith, Esq., City:

DEAR SIR: Owing to want of complete harmony as to what should be the policy of the administration in regard to important questions, I deem it advisable to reorganize the board of public works, and notify you that from this date, October 23, 1895, you will no longer hold the position of member of said board. I am, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

C. B. OAKLEY,
Mayor.

THE SENTINEL reporter met Mr. Griffith this afternoon and asked him about the reasons for this action of the mayor.

"I know nothing at all," he replied, "except that there is a difference of opinion in regard to public affairs between the members of the board.

"Our personal relations have always been pleasant and I have tried to do my duty as a member of the board."

Mr. Willis Hattersley has also resigned from the board. Mayor Oakley has Mr. Hattersley's resignation in his pocket, but he has not yet answered it.

Mayor Oakley said the resignation would be accepted. He has already appointed a man for Mr. Griffith's place but declined to make his name known to THE SENTINEL.

MILLER AND BROKAW

Are to Be Re-employed as Sanitary Officers by the City.

It is understood that since the council has appropriated additional money with which to increase the sanitary police force ex-Officers Miller and Brokaw will be re-employed. These two officers were dismissed a short time ago because the money appropriated for the payment of their salaries had been exhausted. The appropriation of $500 by the council last night will enable the department to put the two men back in their old positions.

MORE ANTI-TOXINE

Received by Dr. Drayer for Use Among the Poor People.

Dr. Drayer, the city bacteriololgist, has received twenty bottles of anti-toxine for use in cases of diphtheria among the poor people. This quantity will be sufficient for all needs for some time to come.

ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

A NEW DISCOVERY WHICH IS WORTH THAT MUCH.

To Anyone Afflicted with Piles.

The Pyramid Pile Cure, the new, painless remedy which has been so remarkably successful in curing every form of piles and rectal diseases, has recently been placed on sale at druggists and it is safe to say that when its extraordinary merit becomes fully known, there will be no such thing as surgical operations for the cure of this obstinate and common trouble.

Mrs. M. C. Hinkly, of 601 Mississippi St, Indianapolis, Ind., says: I had been a terrible sufferer from piles for 15 years and no remedies benefitted me, until I saw an advertisement of the Pyramid Pile Cure; I got a package, also a package of Pyramid Pills and used both according to directions. I was astonished at the immediate relief obtained and now I honestly believe the Pyramid to be the only certain cure for piles.

That you may realize how bad I was, I will say that I was confined to my bed and went before the college physicians here who said my case was a new one to them and wanted seven or eight hundred dollars to undertake a cure; the great pain had brought on a rupture, and I knew an operation would be death to me on account of blood poisoning. Nearly everyone here knows of my terrible suffering from piles and I feel that I cannot praise the Pyramid Pile Cure enough, and the Pyramid Pills also. My husband will join me highly recommending the Pyramid, my daughter was cured by one box only. For several years I weighed but about 90 pounds, now I weigh 150 and feel in perfect health.

This seems to be the universal testimony of every sufferer from piles who have ever tried the Pyramid; it is the safest, most painless pile cure yet discovered; contains no opiate, morphine, cocaine or any poisonous ingredient whatever, has a soothing, healing effect from the first application, and the moderate price places it within the reach of everyone needing treatment. The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per package and the Pyramid Pills at 25 cents per box.

Send to Pyramid Drug Co., Albion, Mich., for free book on cause and cure of piles.

I used Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh and have received great benefit. I believe it a safe and certain cure. Very pleasant to take. —Wm. Fraser, Rochester, N. Y.

LET everything be done that can be done to stamp out deadly diphtheria in this city.

FORT WAYNE is entertaining the delegates of two important conventions this week—the state conference of charities and the district convention of the Methodist Foreign Missionary society.

DIPHTHERIA has become almost as virulent and deadly in its character as cholera, small pox and other contagious diseases and the city council, therefore, did the right thing at its meeting last night in making an appropriation to aid in stamping it out in this city and paying for an extra sanitary policeman to look after and prevent its spread.

AS THE result of years of observation, Henry Kenner, of Huntington, discards the goose-bone, corn-husk, muskrat and ground-squirrel as an index of approaching winter, and depends entirely upon an ancient hen. If the hen begins shedding her feathers first at the head, the early part of the winter will be severe. If the tail feathers are first to go, then the close of the winter will be severe. At the present time, however, Mr. Kenner is confident that the beginning, middle and close of winter will be severe, as the hen is shedding all over.

IT IS not impossible that the November elections may create the two leading candidates for president and leave all the old wheel horses of both parties out of the race. If Campbell shall be chosen in Ohio, as is now certainly within the range of possibility, although somewhat remote, there will be no dispute in the democratic ranks as to their leader for 1896. The man who could recover Ohio to the democrats, especially one so well equipped in statesmanship and character as is Campbell, could not have his leadership disputed in the great battle of next year. It is also among the possibilities that the November election may make the republican candidate by presenting a name hitherto undiscussed as among the presidential possibilities. If Colonel Bradley, the republican candidate for governor, shall succeed in Kentucky, as is possible, he would at once forge to the forefront in the struggle for the republican leadership of 1896.

NEVER before in our history as a city have we had with us such an earnest class of men and women interested in the great work of charity and reform as are represented in the state convention of charities which is in session here. All creeds and all classes are working together for the uplifting of humanity and the betterment of the world. These representatives are prominent in the cities and towns from which they come and are engaged in the busy duties of life, and yet they find time to give their hands and hearts to the work of charity. Such men and women make the world brighter and better and humanity is made the happier by reason of their deeds.

The Dead Beats of Pugilism.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons have given pugilism its death blow on this continent, and the task would have been much more difficult but for the fact that both of them will rank in history as dead beats in pugilism. Neither of them has cultivated what is called the manly art of self-defense as an art, but both have indulged in it solely for the purpose of individual profit, and there will be general rejoicing that they have given the finishing blow to professional pugilism in the United States.

It is doubtful whether either Corbett or Fitzsimmons really desired to fight. It is quite certain that both of them were not in earnest in having the proposed match come off. Corbett was forced by public pressure to accept the challenge of Fitzsimmons, and if it be assumed that Fitzsimmons really desired a slugging match with Corbett, a careful analysis of Corbett's actions and utterances indicates very clearly that he at least intended to evade the battle, and it is not entirely unreasonable to assume that Fitzsimmons will shed no tears at the failure to meet his antagonist.

Brutal as is the profession of pugilism, it extorted some measure of respect from people of this and other countries while it was maintained as a distinctive art, but when professional pugilism was prostituted to mere notoriety and money getting, all public sympathy was forfeited, and beyond a few individual followers of the leading bruisers, little interest has been felt in the professionalist. The fact that public sentiment has become so crystallized against it in the entire south, as well as in the north, that the governors have come to the front and forbidden the fight in state after state, clearly shows that all respect for or sympathy with professional pugilism, as illustrated by our present race of pugilists, has perished.

Ever since Corbett and Fitzsimmons became prominent in pugilistic circles they have followed Sullivan by going upon the stage and exhausting themselves to degrade the drama to the lowest plane by mere speculative pugilism. There was some excuse for Sullivan after having suffered his final defeat, going upon the stage as the only means left to him for earning his bread and butter; but Corbett and Fitzsimmons for a year or more have crowded the newspapers with sensational stories of their prowess and their purpose to fight a great battle chiefly to advertise them in speculative enterprise, and now that the prize fight is declared off, there will be universal disgust with them as notoriety seeking and speculative pugilists.

If Corbett and Fitzsimmons really desired to have a fight to a finish they could have it any day in some secluded spot, without advertising it to the world and with every safeguard for the enforcement of the rules of the ring but both are afraid to go and fight it out unless it can be done with thousands of dollars of gate money to be added to the ten thousand or more put up for the victor. If they want to fight let them go into the woods of Arkansas any bright morning with a score or two of personal friends and have it out. They could maul each other to their heart's content, and probably escape the law by quickly fleeing the state. They cannot now fight anywhere on this continent under color of law, and they should either go out and take a regular set-to to settle the championship, or at once abandon pugilism as a profession. Professional pugilism is dead in the United States, and the pugilistic dead-beats, Corbett and Fitzsimmons, have contributed more than all others to hasten its funeral.

People flock by the thousand to the great religious revival now in progress in Philadelphia, and there are scores of conversions. It is certainly time there were spiritual revivals all over this country to offset the avarice and materialism which has grown so rampant. But the true test of the good done by religious revival is like the value to be attached to the signing of the pledge by a drunkard. How much it is worth cannot be told under several years. If the men and women whom this revival has seemed to turn from the error of their ways are five years from now leading honest, gentle, clean, righteous and incorruptible lives and living up to the golden rule, then this will have been a real religious awakening.

Now is the time when autumn leaves are in their glory and autumn skies are at their bluest. The individual who can go into the country or through the woodlands and not have his soul penetrated to the center of his being with a sense of the beauty nature scatters all around him free and without cost ought to be dead. He is a clod, an animal lower than the missing link. He would go into the field and dig potatoes on his only daughter's wedding day.

The Social Economist wants congress and the country to awake to the fact "that for 34 years the United States subtreasury has been compelled by the exigencies of the public debt to be a bank of issue and that its issues are large and must be redeemed and retired. The need is peremptory that it be reorganized into a competent federal bank, which will have at least $3 of assets behind every dollar of notes."

NO MORE DELAY.

The Vehicle Tax Law Will be Enforced at Once.

Mayor Oakley Will Instruct the Police to Attend to All Unlicensed Vehicles.

For the last week or two the vehicle tax license business has been very dull at the city comptroller's office. People have been very slow about coming in to pay their tax.

This fact come to the notice of Mayor Oakley and this morning he said to THE SENTINEL: "You can say that I will instruct the police to begin at once to enforce the vehicle tax law. Those who have not yet procured their licenses will be properly attended to. The law is plain on this subject and the officers will be instructed to proceed at once with its enforcement."

STATE NEWS.

Howard Workman, four years old, of Bluffton, ate acorns and buckeyes, and died in great agony.

J. R. Rosecranz, of Washington township, Shelby county, was thrown by a fractious horse and dangerously hurt.

Wm. Conway's tobacco-dyeing house, near Fayetteville, was destroyed by fire and 30,000 pounds of tobacco were consumed.

Anderson Jones, seventy-five years old, of Newbern, and Mrs. Miranda Grant, seventy years old, near Hartsville, have been united in marriage.

Fire at Michigan City destroyed two warehouses owned by the Chicago Caneseating company, and leased by Winterbotham & Sons, for the storage of pork barrels. Loss, $12,000.

The boiler of an engine used in drilling a well for the Kosciusko county infirmary exploded with considerable force, damaging the walls of the new building, but injuring no one.

An English syndicate is negotiating for the purchase of 30,000 acres of land near the Kankakee river, in Lake county, opposite the 10,000 acre tract owned by Nelson Morris, of Chicago. Over $75 000 is involved in the purchase. If the deal is perfected, the tract will be divided into small farms and tenanted by English farmers.

A variety company, billed as Sam T. Jack's Gayety Girls, undertook to give a performance in Fisher's opera house, at Anderson, but the performers were so poor that the audience began to hiss and show other signs of disapproval, and while the tumult was at its height the lights were shut off. The females composing the combination were followed to their hotel by a mob of young men and boys, and the scene was disgraceful. It resulted, however, in the show dissolving for the season.

THE FASHION PLATE.

Unlimited favor will be given to velvet next season.

Many of the rough cloth jackets are made in reefer shape.

Some of the new furicapes are finished with vest fronts of contrasting fur.

Some very elegant black costumes are prepared for dressy autumn wear.

The twilled tartan goods make stylish costumes with a vest of plain goods elaborately braided.

Among the novelties for cool weather wear are fur sailor collars finished around the entire edge and long pointed fronts with a deep fringe of sable tails.

The great rage for crepon fabrics has resulted, as usual, in the production of cheap grades of it which will turn dowdy looking and rusty in two months' time.

The highly fashionable modiste has condemned the blouse waist, but this is not likely to kill it, for stylish and elegant looking blouses in satin and velvet are among the handsome autumn garments.

Many green and black and red and black color mixtures appear among autumn dress goods, and narrow striped tailor mixtures in heather colors are used for fall traveling and shopping costumes.

The long feather boa is appearing again and is being worn this season in very striking colors—pale blue, red, amber brown, green and deep yellow. These are startling and uncommon, but in very questionable taste.

It is noticed that velvet sleeves appear on many of the crepon, mohair and other woolen gowns, while silken costumes, on the contrary, have sleeves and accessories of satin or velvet striped faille or other lustrous corded silks.—New York Post.

STAGE GLINTS.

Philippi's "Benefactor of Mankind" is to be played in French in Paris.

Charles Leclercq's place in the Daly company will probably be filled by Tyrone Power.

Charles William Farnum and Mabel Eaton Robinson were married recently in New York.

Harrison J. Wolfe, a new star, will produce "The Corsican Brothers" and "David Garrick."

Helen Blythe has made a distinct hit as Leah and in her new play, "Reaping the Harvest."

Henri Lee's "Der Schlagbaum" is a success in Berlin. This author's dramas are sensational and dramatic.

Louis Aldrich may go out this season. Joseph Brooks has made a proposition to him to play the Crane plays.

John Drew will soon produce at the Empire theater, New York, Madeleine Lucette Ryley's comedy, "Christopher, Jr."

J. Aldrich Libbey is leading baritone of the Jules Grau Opera company, and his wife, Kate Trayer, is also a member of the organization.

Frank M. Wills of "Two Old Cronies" fame and Harry Brown, the well known comic opera comedian, have signed contracts for a five years' starring tour.

Nita Carritte, formerly with the Carl Rosa Opera company, has been engaged by J. C. Duff to sing Beatrice, the prima donna role in Pearsall Thorne's new opera.

"The Midnight Special" is the work of William L. Ballauf, Jr., treasurer of the Lyceum theater, Washington. Mr. Ballauf has another new play, entitled "Across the Hills."

GREAT MEN'S READING.

Beethoven was fond of history and novels.

Wagner was a close student of musical history and made that line of reading a specialty.

Bulwer-Lytton's favorite author was Horace. He always carried a small edition in his pocket.

Moliere was a reader of romances. His plays give many evidences of his excellent memory.

Cortos always carried in his bosom a little prayer book, which he religiously read from beginning to end every month.

Gregory the Great said that the world did not elsewhere contain such wisdom as was to be found in the epistles of Paul.

Alexander the Great always slept with a copy of Homer under his pillow. His life was modeled after that of Achilles.

Mrs. Homans was a lover of the Spanish romances and often entertained a small domestic audience with one of these tales.

Bancroft's specialty was the early history of the United States, and for many years all he read had a bearing on that subject.

Henry IV, the Great, of France said that no better book had ever been written than "Cæsar's Commentaries," and that the next best was the "Retreat of the Ten Thousand."

Gerome read Roman antiquities and history. He studied with attention any works that gave information in the matter of costume and had a large collection of such works.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Wonderful View.

"It was a wonderful view I had last Sunday," remarked a member of the club who has just returned from a two months' tramp through the southern part of the state. "I got into Coopers-town about noon; and after dinner started over the hills to Richfield Springs. On the way I stopped at the observatory located on Mount Otsego, and the view from there was more extended, if not finer, than any I ever beheld. You remember how cool it was, and the air was as clear and steady as I ever saw it. The observatory has an elevation of about 2,000 feet, which is about 1,500 feet above Utica.

"Five lakes can be counted with the naked eye, and two more can be added with a fieldglass. Lake Otsego, the famous 'Glimmerglass' of Cooper's 'Deerslayer,' lies at the foot of the mountain, while on the horizon above it can be seen the Catskill mountains, with Black Dome and South mountain, 65 miles away, on which the Catskill Mountain House showed as a little white spot. To the northeast I saw the Adirondacks, with Mount Marcy, the highest point of land in the state, situated at a distance of 110 miles. In the east I saw mountains in three states. One was represented by Bald mountain, near Bennington, Vt., a full 90 miles away, and another by Mount Monadnock in New Hampshire, a distance of 150 miles. It was indeed wonderful. Not so much the view of the mountains, for that showed merely like a cloud against the sky, but that the unaided power of human vision should be able to bridge such a distance.

"Of course hundreds of people visit the observatory without seeing any of these distant mountains, for there are probably not more than half a dozen days in the year on which such an extended view can be had as that which was mine last Sunday afternoon."—Utica Observer.

A Remarkable Somnambulist.

Archibald Clark, a farmer living a few miles from here, is without doubt the most remarkable somnambulist in the state. During the past summer he has been accusing his neighbors of slipping into his truck patches at night and cultivating them. Of course he did not object to this, but thought it most extraordinary. It was also a strange fact that they always did at night just what he had intended to do the following day.

Becoming anxious to know which of his neighbors he was indebted to for the kindness, he spent many wakeful nights watching his truck patches, but without success. No one ever came into them when he was on the watch, but when he would miss watching for a night there was invariably some work done.

A short time ago he drove his wagon into his potato patch late one evening, so that he could load it early in the morning. He was very anxious to get well on his way to market before sun up. However, he overslept himself and got up in a terrible stew, but great was his surprise when he went into the potato patch to find the wagon already loaded and the horses hitched to it, ready to start, thus saving him a couple of hours' time and hard work.

One night his wife saw him stealing out of the house in his night clothes, and, following him to the barn, saw him take a mattock and go out and begin digging up grubs in an old fence row. She then understood who had been doing her husband's work.—Greenup (Ky.) Dispatch in Louisville Post.

Little Carrie had been instructed to learn a Scripture verse with the word good in it. Accordingly her parents taught her, "It is lawful to do good on the Sabbath day."

The little maid repeated her text many times softly to herself before the beginning of the general exercise, in which all the Sunday school classes were to join. Then, when her turn came, she sent a ripple over the audience by reciting, in clear but lisping accents:

"It is awful to be good on the Sabbath day."—Youth's Companion.

MOTHERS and those about to become mothers, should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription robs childbirth of its torture, terrors and dangers to both mother and child, by aiding Nature in preparing the system for parturition. Thereby "labor" and also the period of confinement are greatly shortened. It also promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child. During pregnancy, it prevents "morning sickness" and those distressing nervous symptoms from which so many suffer.

Tanks, Cottle Co., Texas.

DR. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I took your "Favorite Prescription" previous to confinement and never did so well in my life. It is only two weeks since my confinement and I am able to do my work. I feel stronger than I ever did in six weeks before.

Yours truly,

A MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE.

DR. R. V. PIERCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I began taking your "Favorite Prescription" the first month of pregnancy, and have continued taking it since confinement. I did not experience the nausea or any of the ailments due to pregnancy, after I began taking your "Prescription." I was only in labor a short time, and the physician said I got along unusually well.

MRS. BAKER.

We think it saved me a great deal of suffering. I was troubled a great deal with leucorrhea also, and it has done a world of good for me.

ST. VITUS' DANCE.

Childhood's Terrible Nerve Disease.

Getting Fearfully Common---Epidemic Among Children.

How It Comes on and How to Detect Its Approach.

Nerves of Children Delicate and Must be Fed.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Makes Them Strong and Well.

The signs of nerve disorders in children are plain. There will be a pale look, darkness under the eyes, pinched features, and restlessness, irritability and nervousness. The appetite is irregular, the sleep restless and disturbed with tossing from side to side, starting in sleep, gritting the teeth; there is indisposition to play, the child remaining quiet and inactive, and complaining of feeling tired. These are the first symptoms and should be attended to at once, in order to check serious trouble.

If St Vitus dance or fits are to result, there will be an unnatural, rapid winking of the eyelids, an involuntary twitching of the face hand, arm, leg or some portion of the body, the pale pinched look will be more marked, and the nervousness will grow rapidly worse. If treatment is delayed, there is fearful danger of serious and fatal prostration of the nervous system.

If parents will give their children suffering from any of the above symptoms, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, they will be as rejoiced as Mrs. F. B. Danforth, of 10 Everett street, Maiden, Mass, whose little daughter has been cured by this wonderful medicine of severe St Vitus' dance.

MARY E. DANFORTH.

"The winter my little daughter was seven," she says, "she had a long run of rheumatic fever. Then the St. Vitus' dance came on, and she got so bad she could hardly walk or talk. Several doctors treated her, but they did not help her.

"I tried several remedies, and as I built up her general health she slowly gained, but never got entirely over it The next year it came on again in a worse form than before.

"I tried Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and I could see a change for the better before she had taken the first bottle. She took three bottles regularly, and since then I have given it to her when she got tired and was restless at night, but there is now no sign of the St. Vitus' dance about her in any way, and I trust she will never be troubled with it again.

"I recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura to all those who are suffering in a similar manner."

It is only necessary to say that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, and may be given to sleepless, restless infants, nervous children, or the most delicate invalids with absolute assurance of beneficial results. It is indeed a wonderful medicine for children, because it makes them strong, healthy, vigorous and well.

It has what no other remedy has, a well-known physician responsible for its good action and effects. It is the discovery and prescription of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, and he can be consulted in all cases without charge, personally or by letter.

Large Family.

At a recent public celebration in a New England town, at which several state dignitaries were present, an old gentleman of rural aspect propounded many questions in a hoarse whisper to his nearest neighbor.

"Who's that sitting over there in the big chair?" he demanded.

"The governor," responded his neighbor laconically.

"And who are all those men gathered behind him?" persisted the old man.

"Suit," replied the other shortly.

"All of 'em!" gasped the old man.

His neighbor nodded.

"Well, I swanny!" ejaculated the questioner after a moment's stunned astonishment. "We think we've got a pooty fair show o' Emmonses in this town, but if all those fellows are Sweets, as near of an age as most of 'em look, I should like to see the rest o' the family, that's all I've got to say! My stars! What doin's they must have, come Thanksgivin and Christmas!"—Youth's Companion.

The Crown Prince's Pigeons.

General von Verdy du Vernois tells a pleasant story about the war of 1870. At Villeneuve-le-Roi he was obliged, for want of time, to refuse an invitation to lunch. A brother officer rushed out of the house with a ragout, which Verdy ate with gusto. A few days later, the old Emperor William said to him at dinner, "That is a pretty affair of yours—my son has told me all about it."

"What affair does your majesty refer to?" asked Verdy.

It was this. The crown prince had received the news that two carrier pigeons had been caught, and he had ordered them to be sent to Versailles. On returning home in the evening he found the following telegram:

"Lieutenant Colonel Verdy has just eaten them."

They had furnished forth the ragout at Villeneuve-le-Roi.—Realm.

WHAT HAPPENED.

Developments Proceeding From a Scrap Between Hog and Dog.

As I sat on the veranda of the village tavern and looked about me I thought it one of the most peaceful towns I ever saw and said as much to the justice of the peace who occupied a chair beside me.

"Yes, purty peaceful, but"— he replied as his right hand went slowly back to his pistol pocket.

"But what?" I asked.

"But yo' don't want to mix in when it comes off. Yo'r best way will be to go through that door and up stairs, and don't come down as long as yo' hear any shootin."

"But I don't understand, judge. Is there to be any shooting around here?"

"Sartin to be!"

"When?"

"Purty quick, I reckon."

"But what about?"

"Waal," he drawled as he pointed down the street, "d'ye see that onery hawg wallerin in the mud down thar?"

"Yes, I see a hog."

"He belongs to Sam Batterson, the cooper, and Sam feels mighty tender to'ards that hawg sincé his wife died. Now, then, d'ye see that pesky dawg up the street by that shade tree?"

"Yes, I see him."

"He belongs to Joe Stivers, the harness maker, and Joe thinks so much of him that he makes his children sleep on the floh that the dawg may have a feather bed all to hisself. In about five minutes that pesky dawg will sight that onery hawg, and thar'll be a row."

"The dog will pitch into the hog, you mean?"

"Sartin to."

"And then"—

"And then Sam Batterson will pitch inter the dawg, and Joe Stivers will pitch inter Sam Batterson, and the fust thing yo' know the hull town will be pitchin inter each other. As I said befo', yo'd better keep yo'r eyes on that doah onless yo' want to mix in."

"But, judge, why should a little scrap between a hog and a dog lead to"—

"Thar goes the pesky dawg!" exclaimed the judge as he sprang up and started down the steps, drawing his pistol as he went.

I made for the door and the stairway and reached my room. The shooting opened lively and was well sustained for about ten minutes. When it appeared to be over, I descended to the veranda. The judge was just coming up the steps from the street. He had his hat in his hand, and there was blood on his cheek where a bullet had grazed it.

"Waal, it's all over till next time," he remarked as he sat down and examined his pistol to see how many cartridges were left in the cylinder.

"Anybody killed?" I asked.

"One or two, I reckon, and three or four hurt, but it don't begin to be as lively as usual. The pesky dawg was shot, however, and now Joe Stivers will be layin fur Sam Batterson every day in the year, and thar'll be no end of public enthoosiasm!"—Detroit Free Press.

A Fireproof Lamp.

An incandescent methyl alcohol lamp was shown recently to Kaiser Wilhelm by the inventor. It gives six times the light of a kerosene lamp. To show that it is not explosive, it was thrown, at the emperor's request, on a heap of sand. The glass broke, and the alcohol flowed around the flame, but it did not burn.

WORLD'S TIME BEATEN.

A Train Travels 357 Miles in 320 Minutes.

The "Muncie" Round House to be Rebuilt—The Electric Corporation Complimented.

An Associated Press dispatch from Cleveland, received at THE SENTINEL office at 1 o'clock today, reads as follows: "A world's record breaker on the Lake Shore railroad passed through Cleveland at 8.50 o'clock this morning en route from Chicago to New York. The train left Chicago at 3:30, standard time. It consisted of a locomotive and three Wagner vestibuled cars. The party consisted of Dr. H. Walter Webb, third vice president of the New York Central, who on September 1 last lowered the world's record on that line; his secretary, Mr. Leonard, who was the official timekeeper on the run; General Superintendent W. H. Candiff, of the Lake Shore; A. J. Smith, general passenger agent of the line; E. A. Handy, chief engineer; Assistant General Superintendent Blodgett, Mr. S. P. Golde, chief clerk to the general superintendent, and E. B. Cook, chief clerk to Mr. Blodgett. The division superintendents of the various divisions accompanied the party over their respective sections. The train pulled out of the Lake Shore station at Chicago promptly at 3:30, pulled by a mogul locomotive. Every arrangement had been made to expedite the run. Switches were spiked and all trains side tracked for "The Flyer." Across the Illinois praries, through the Michigan farms and along the smooth stretches bordering the edges of Lake Erie, the flyer sped like a meteor through the night. Brief stops were made at Hillsdale and Toledo to change engines and Cleveland was reached at 8 o'clock and 50½ seconds, or 320 minutes out of Chicago. The distance from Chicago to Cleveland by the Lake Shore is 357 miles, so that the entire trip, including stops, was made at a rate of a mile in fifty-three and one half seconds. Engines were changed at Collinwood in about twenty-nine seconds and the train was rushing on again. The distance between Toledo and Cleveland, 108 miles, was covered in 106 minutes, including five stops and three slow-ups.

The run in detail was as follows: Chicago to Elkhart, 87.4 miles, in 85 minutes, 26 seconds; Elkhart to Toledo, 133.4 miles, in 124 minutes, 35 seconds; Toledo to Cleveland, 107 8 miles, in 106 minutes, 6 seconds; Cleveland to Erie, 95.5 miles, in 85 minutes, 32 seconds; Erie to Buffalo, 86 miles, in 70 minutes, 16 seconds. Between Chicago and Elkhart the train was obliged to slow down for railroad crossings eight times, and to scoop up water once.

The engine which pulled the train over the division was No. 95, Mark Floyd engineer. The engine is a standard Lake Shore passenger engine, eight wheeler, built by the Brook's locomotive works at Dunkirk, N. Y., and designed by Geo. W. Stevens, superintendent of motive power for the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway. The diameter of her drivers is seventy-two inches; size of cylinder, seventeen by twenty-four; weight on drivers, 65 000 pounds; total weight of engine, exclusive of tender, 104,000 pounds.

WILL BUILD A NEW ROUND HOUSE.

The old frame building along the railway tracks, near the city pumping station, which bore the appellation of "The Muncie Round House," has been razed and the Lake Erie and Western company will build on the site a larger and better arranged round house of ten or twelve stalls. Work upon the structure has already commenced and will be completed before the "snow flies." The old round house was built in 1870 and has been an "eye-sore" to the residents of Bloomingdale. They are glad it has been torn down.

NICKEL PLATE OFFICIALS HERE LAST NIGHT.

Some of the Nickel Plate officers spent the night in the city, coming down from Chicago on a special train in the afternoon. In the party were General Superintendent A. W. Johnson, General Foreman of Car Inspectors R. S. Miller and G. W. Vaughn, engineer of maintenance of way. Supt. C. D. Gorham and Trainmaster S. K Blair accompanied Mr. Johnson from Chicago to Bellevue. Engineer Ehrhart, with engine 153, brought the train down from Chicago and Conductor John McVey had charge of it.

FINE COLLECTION OF NATIVE TIMBER.

Master Car Builder J. A. Graham and Foreman M. W. Kemp, of the lumber yards, have fitted up an interesting assortment of specimens of timber which grows in this country. The collection is for educational purposes and it is conspicuously arranged in a large case, with glass doors, which is fastened against the wall in the cab department of the Pittsburg shops. All the car specifications of the Pennsylvania company call for first-class white or burr oak, yellow poplar and pine grown upon high lands. It requires an expert to distinguish timber when it has been manufactured into lumber. Pin oak and red oak are similar in appearance to burr oak, yet when it comes to service the former are far inferior and hence will not be accepted by the company's inspectors when measuring lumber. In order that the inspector may be able to distinguish between the different timbers considerable study is first necessary. It was for the purpose of educating the inspectors that the gentlemen named, at a considerable outlay of labor, fitted up this collection, which includes that timber which may not be used in the construction of cars as well as that which may be used. Theodore Kucher is now "taking a course" in this department, with a view of fitting himself for lumber and car inspection work.

A BOOMING TOWN.

Julius Knaak, a machinist in the employ of the Bass Foundry and Machine works, went to New Castle, Pa., yesterday to aid in setting up a large engine in the factory of the New Castle Tube company. The Bass company already has over a dozen of its engines in operation in that "bee hive of industry," as the town is called. Capt. Diehl was there during the summer and he says he never saw a more thriving, busy little city in his life. Every hotel, boarding house and even private residence was overflowing with business men, manufacturers, agents and mechanics, and all were busy as bees.

A GIGANTIC COMBINATION.

A rumor is abroad in railway circles to the effect that a movement is in progress with the object of uniting several of the transcontinental lines into one system, extending from Chicago to the Pacific coast. The lines said to be in the deal are the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, the Denver and Rio Grande, the Rio Grande, Western and Northern and the Oregon Short line. The project is of such magnitude that it is regarded with doubt by well informed railroad men. According to the report, if the government takes possession of the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific as one system, the consolidating lines named, perhaps with the substitution of the Colorado Midland for the Denver and Rio Grande, is almost a sure thing.

A FINE ELECTRICAL DISPLAY.

The New York World of Sunday, October 13, contained a six column, illustrated, description of the Fort Wayne Electric corporation's exhibit at the Atlanta exposition. The illustrations included "a Fort Wayne Alternator in Operation in Machinery Hall," "Constant Current Dynamo for 125 lights," "Wood Bipolar Motor," and "Standard Light Transformer." The article is well written and highly interesting, even to those who are not very well versed in electrical matters. It is also very complimentary to the Electric corporation.

BUILDING DOUBLE TRACKS.

The work of double tracking the Pittsburg road has been resumed and a gang of men are now at work putting down the tracks on the roadbed which was built two years ago between Wheeler and Windsor, a distance of ten miles. When this work is completed other portions of the line will be similarly treated.

F. J. Ruch, a steam fitter, reported for duty at the Pittsburg shops this morning, after an illness of three weeks.

Carroll D. Wright figures it out that the workingmen of this country have lost over $190,000,000 in thirteen years by strikes.

Brakeman W. L. Stanley, who was injured by a fall a short time ago, has recovered and yesterday took his run out on the Nickel Plate.

Fred Mensch is now working in the incandescent testing room at the electric works, having been transferred from the metre department.

Among other shipments the electric works sent a 75 K. W. machine to Wheaton, Ill, and a 37½ K. W. machine to Virginia, Ill., this morning.

The Ohio Falls car works on Monday began the building of three hundred box cars for the Pennsylvania lines, to be delivered at the rate of ten a day.

A. B. Plough has been offered the position of general manager of the Central road of Georgia. He now holds a similar position on the St. Paul and Duluth.

Another switching engine and crew was put to work in the Nickel Plate yards last night. George Horton is at the head of it. This indicates a revival of local business.

Operator C. M. Meek is sick and his place in the Nickel Plate yard office is being filled by A. A. Gilson, of the night force. B. McLarman, of Cleveland, has the night trick.

The Pittsburg planing mills, which have been running ten hours per day this morning adopted a twelve hour schedule. Besides new work there is an unusual amount of repairs.

Walter Hesser, of the engineering department, is now filling the office of inspector at the electric works, vice R. W. Smythe, who is detained at home by the serious illness of his wife.

Julius Wentzel, formerly of the Standard Wheel works, but later of the Kerr Murray works, has gone to Indianapolis to take a position in the state house under Chief Janitor Timothy Griffin.

The Vanderbilts have sold a tract of land on the line of the old canal at Huntington, Ind., which is taken to mean they have abandoned the intention of building a railroad along the line.

The Panhandle is so crowded with freight traffic that it has borrowed a number of engines from the divisions east of Pittsburg to use until the new ones now building at Altoona are ready for service.

H. D. Gordon, master mechanic of the shops of the Pennsylvania road at Juniata, Pa., has resigned, to take effect October 31, when he goes to New York to take the position of consulting engineer of a railway supply house.

A freight conductor who was discharged during the Debs strike from a Chicago road for abandoning his train, delaying a limited passenger train several hours, claims to have been discharged from twelve positions, owing to the blacklist being pulled on him before his first month was up

Indianapolis Journal: "A flourishing branch of the ladies' auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has been established at Columbus, Ohio. Fort Wayne, Ind., however, leads in this feature with the brotherhood, having the oldest and most prosperous branch in the country."

Engineer John Carroll is out today testing the valve motion of Wabash passenger engine 77, which was recently put into service on the line. This is one of the best locomotives on the road and it is being put into shape for a fast run on or about November 15, when the annual official inspection tour will take place.

Indianapolis Journal: "The engineers on the Pennsylvania lines are fined for blowing their whistles inside city limits, and the general verdict is that the noise is altogether unnecessary, at least that is what is to be inferred from the way the people who are doing the kicking express themselves. It is altogether different, however, in case of an accident, when an engine crew is called up to answer the questions of a coroner's jury, when the first thing the engineer is asked, "did you sound the whistle?" The fact is that a train approaching any crossing is expected to give warning in the usual manner, and any failure to do so is taken as evidence of negligence."

TOWANTIC'S BOTTOMLESS PIT.

Futile Efforts of a Railroad Company to Fill a Hole In the Ground.

At Towantic, a little village on top of the mountain ten miles west of Waterbury, the New York and New England Railroad company is endeavoring to fill in what is apparently a bottomless pit. This pit is exactly on the top of the mountain, at an elevation of fully 1,000 feet. When the route for the railroad was surveyed, it was run directly across this swamp, the nature of the marsh, of course, not being known. It is only about 200 feet from one edge to the other, but what it lacks in width it makes up in depth, and it has proved to be practically without bottom.

When this point was reached in constructing the roadbed, it was decided to build a trestle across the swamp as the quickest and most practical way of getting over. The first piles that were dropped endwise in the mud preparatory to driving them down to a solid foundation sank nearly out of sight of their own weight. Other poles were placed on top of the first ones and easily forced down to a depth of nearly 60 feet. Upon these poles the bridge, which is about 200 feet long, was built, and it has been a thorn in the side of the company ever since. Eternal vigilance has been the price of keeping the railroad from sinking out of sight, and it was finally determined to fill in the hole. But this is proving to be a formidable feat.

Before the work of putting in gravel was begun a new track resembling a horseshoe was constructed around the edge of the swamp, to be used while the old bridge was being filled in. This was done from a fear that the gravel would settle and force the structure out of place, and the precaution was well taken. Work was begun early in the summer by putting in hundreds of old ties to serve as a foundation for the ground. Already 2,000 carloads of gravel have been dumped into the swamp from the bridge, and it settles out of sight nearly as fast as it can be put in.

Engines are not permitted to cross the bridge any longer. A train of gravel is pushed out on the bridge, the wire cable of a big iron plow is attached to the engine, and the plow drawn over the cars, forcing the gravel off on either side. This material is loaded upon the cars by a big steam shovel in a nearby gravel bank, and the loading and unloading are but the work of a few minutes. But the porous and false bed of the pit has an enormous appetite for the material that is dropped into it, and it will be some time before the yielding soil is made firm enough to hold the heavy trains that must pass over it.

It is a curious freak of nature that such a place should be located at the peak of a mountain, but it is not without parallel. An almost identical difficulty was encountered by this same company when building its road over the chain of the old Fishkill mountains, in New York state. The road here skirts a large lake known as Whaley's pond, which covers several hundred acres. Gravel and rocks that were dumped in the roadbed here during the day would disappear in the night, and at one time, when a trainload of soil was being unloaded, the filling slipped from under it, carrying several cars into the pond. These were never recovered, as they went completely out of sight in the mud. While gravel was being fed into this apparently bottomless pit without interruption it was noticed that an island was gradually rising out in the lake, fully 1,000 feet from the shore. This phenomenon continued just as long as the roadbed continued to settle and was caused by the pressure of the soil and rocks that were disappearing as fast as they could be unloaded. This island grew to considerable proportions, and when it stopped the roadbed became solid and has never caused any trouble since. This will probably be the result of the attempt to fill up the hole at Towantic.—Hartford Times.

Tenant—For what?

Landlord—They've changed the name of this street, and it is now an avenue. —Chicago Record.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney and Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

Traveling In an Elevator.

Among others entering the elevator at a well known Fourteenth street dry goods establishment was a stout, determined looking Irish lady. She was carried up and down the elevator several trips, but evinced no disposition to get out at any particular department. The man in charge finally said:

"Madam, where do you wish to be landed?"

"Lave me as near the Grand Central daypo as ye can," came the paralyzing response. She was left.—Texas Siftings.

One Consolation.

Jinks—So poor Puffem was killed in that railroad accident? He was in the smoker, I believe.

Binks—Yes, that's one consolation we all have. He forgot to take any cigars with him, and if he was smoking one bought of the trainboy death must have come as a welcome relief.—New York Weekly.

Mrs. J. H Byerlein, assisted by the Ladies' society of Bethany Presbyterian church, will serve supper tomorrow evening in the church, from 6 to 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

A pleasant surprise was tendered Miss Alice Hart by a number of her school mates. Among the guests were Misses Alice Hart, Clara Benoy, Rine Sickley, Dessie Lapshure, Goldie Skinner, Lottie Milton, Nettie Lee, Lillie Blackburn, Maud Broom.

The "Centennial" entertainment and social to be given by the Christian Endeavor society of the Westminster church, at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening, will be very interesting and unique. The "Family Album," which will be presented, will embrace a number of old and well known characters. The rooms will be decorated in centennial colors and an enjoyable time is promised to all.

When Thomas Ryan, the commission merchant, mounted his buckboard in front of the Windsor hotel this morning and attempted to drive away, the lines were crossed, and he pulled his horse around on the track in front of a belt line car. The animal was struck and thrown down, receiving a bad cut on its nose, but escaping serious injury. Mr. Ryan was not injured, but pretty badly frightened. It was the narrowest escape from injury he ever experienced.

Mrs. L. R. Hartman, the conference secretary of the North Indiana Methodist Foreign Missionary society, has returned from a district meeting which she held at Warsaw. She reports the meeting as being a very successful and interesting one. She will attend meetings at Goshen and Elkhart next week. Mrs. Hartman says that Mary L. Danforth, who addresses the missionary meeting at the Berry street M. E. church tonight, is the best lady speaker who has ever been in this city.

COULDN'T DRINK COFFEE.

Wouldn't be Put Off With Chocolate or Tea.

"And you might bring me a cup of weak coffee, too," a busy man said to a restaurant waiter when giving an order.

"What makes you call for weak coffee, Sam?" a friend remarked.

'O, I have no business to drink coffee, anyhow, but I don't care for chocolate or tea, and do like coffee, although it raises the old harry with my nerves and stomach."

Many a man fails in business because of his physical inability to attend to it properly. When a man wakes up and looks squarely at himself and his affairs he will break off those habits that weaken his body and prevent him from pushing his plans to a successful issue.

Tobacco and coffee seem so harmless that a man feels they cannot hurt him seriously and for that reason sticks to them day after day until his nerves give out and a long period of nervous prostration sets in. While a man is sick his business goes to—well, experience shows that it don't go right, and that a sick spell is a wonderfully expensive investment.

Quit the poisonous habits, and nature will slowly rebuild the broken system without the use of medicines.

It is not hard to give over coffee when one can have Postum Cereal, a beverage which looks like the finest Mocha coffee, and creams up with the golden brown of rich old Java It is very nourishing and fattening, and has the pungent, piquant taste demanded by the coffee drinker, at the same time it can be used by children as well as adults.

Nothing which nature furnishes is superior to the grains for making gray matter in the brain and nerve centers. Postum Cereal, the food drink, is made wholly and entirely of the grains. It can truly be said to 'make red blood." In comparison with coffee its cost is about one third. Grocers sell it, or the Postum Cereal company (Lim'd) of Battle Creek, Mich., send enough for fifty cups for 25 cents

Explained.

Mgr. Dillon, a French sporting bishop of the seventeenth century, was fond of convivial company. On a Sunday after a perfunctory mass, to which his worldly congregation listened vaguely while perusing the lightest of novels, the horns were gayly tooted and the horses were led into the chateau yard. When Louis XIV remonstrated, saying, "My lord bishop, how is it that you hunt of a Sunday and yet forbid your curates to follow your example?" he answered, "Because, your majesty, they have but their personal vices, but I have those of my ancestors."—Argonaut.

—Life.

The Philosophy of Age.

"My son," observed the good man, "the great lesson you should learn is self denial. Never ask yourself, 'Can I get this?' but 'Can I do without it?' Economize! Skimp! Skimp!"

Youth—But, father, what shall I get out of life at that rate?

"Get? Do you suppose life is a mere playtime to pander to material and carnal appetites? Nay. Your young and strong years are the proper years for toil, for drudgery, for saving."

"But, father, I would read. I would study. I would be enlightened, and as a concomitant must have exercise—recreation"—

"Recreation! Why, sir, the years of activity are your workday. Life is a day. You must begin toiling in its early morning and toil far into its afternoon. Never mind the noonday meal. A crust and a promise will do. Gather in the harvest. Toil! Skimp! Deny! And toil on until the darkness comes and the old limbs are failing"—

"But, father, what is the reward of all this suffering self denial?"

"Reward? Think of the supreme joy of sitting in life's gloaming and telling your children and grandchildren about it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Wife—How did you come to propose to me, John?

The Husband—I wanted to be different from other men, I suppose.—Life.

SUSPICIOUS MOVEMENTS.

British, Russian and Japanese Warships in Corean Waters.

There Is Trouble Ahead and It Will Probably be a Three-Cornered Affair if It Comes to Fighting.

LONDON, Oct 24.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that a Russian squadron of war ships left Vladisvostock for Chempulo and Fusan The Japanese fleet in Formosa waters, it is also stated, has been recalled, and it is announced on excellent authority that several British war ships have been ordered to sail for Corea. It is stated at Shanghai that Japan's reply to the demand of Russia that the former evacuate Corea is couched in pacific, but firm language, and protests against dictation by Russia in Corean affairs It is regarded at Shanghai as certain that Russia will permanently occupy Fusan. The Shanghai dispatch says that the situation of affairs is most grave and that preparations for the expected struggle are visible on all sides, but it is hoped that a solution of the difficulty will be found in Russia and Japan agreeing to divide Corea.

GROOM SUDDENLY DECLINES.

Singular Conduct of Charles A. Larson on His Wedding Day.

LOWELL, Ind., Oct. 24.—Yesterday was the appointed time when Rev. J. Sites was to marry Charles A Larson, of Hebron, Ind., and Miss Laura Bates, of this city. Guests were invited from Chicago, Shelbyville, Ind., other places, and this city. Preparations were being completed to celebrate the occasion in style, when Larson appeared on the scene and positively refused to marry the girl. He offered no excuse, only that it was best that he not marry her. No one knows what prompted him to do as he has, but since it has transpired that Larson has eloped four women in a similar manner, one at Shelbyville, Ind., and two at Momence, Ill. Miss Bates is highly respected in society circles of this city, and the occurrence has caused her to become nearly prostrated with grief.

COSTLY LUXURY FOR HAWKINS.

Fleeced by an Actress and Tracked by His Wife.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct 24.—Mrs John Hawkins, of Niagara Falls, who followed her husband and a variety actress to this city, has succeeded by her hot pursuit in breaking up the affair. Hawkins was deserted here by the actress, and the detectives have an intimation that the elopement was a scheme planned by her and her husband to bleed Hawkins, and that they succeeded in capturing all the money he had. Hawkins discovered that his wife was after him and has fled to Buffalo, whither she has followed him.

PRACTICALLY ENDED

Is the Coal Strike in the Ohio Coal Fields.

MASSILLON, O., Oct 24.—The coal strike in the Massillon district is practically at an end, the miners having been gradually resuming work for several days past without the consent of their organization leaders In each case work has been resumed on the same terms as those under which the miners of the state at large are now employed. A mass meeting of the Massillon district miners will be held here Saturday.

SAW HOGS EAT HER CHILD.

All the Mother Could Save Was the Infant's Arm.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 24.—A State Register special says that the two year-old child of Mrs. George Richards, of Ford county, was pulled into the hog pen by the hogs and devoured before the eyes of the mother, who, attracted by the child's screams, flew to the spot, but too late to render any assistance, though she caught an arm of the child, which the hogs then severed from the body.

Theatrical Fight.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 24.—There appears to be every prospect of a fight over the possession of Lady Sholto Douglass between two theatrical managers of this city. October 7, George C. Thompson and Ed Shea, of Boston, signed a two months contract with her ladyship at $25 a week and expenses, the contract to expire December 14. Thompson & Shea commenced making arrangements for a tour through the adjacent cities and towns. They were thunderstruck to learn that the Frawley company had signed her ladyship for the remainder of the season at a larger figure, alleged to be $300 a week, but really about $100 Thompson and his partner will seek legal means to protect their interests.

Senator Thurston.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 24.—The republican state central committee requested Senator Thurston to make a few speeches during the campaign but received a telegram today from San Diego saying that while the senator was improving slowly it was impossible for him to undertake any campaign work. He hopes for a complete restoration of health by the time congress meets and will return to vote.

A GRUESOME RELIC.

The Head of Oliver Cromwell Preserved in England.

For a Century It Has Been in the Possession of the Wilkeson Family at Sealchart.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct 24.—The statement was recently cabled from London that the Liverpool Post claimed to have discovered the head of Oliver Cromwell in the possession of the Wilkeson family, in Sealchart, Kent, England Col Samuel Church author of the "Life of Cromwell," in an interview here today says the existence of this head had been known a full hundred years, and competent judges believe it to be genuine. When in London last summer Colonel Church suggested to the editor of the Chronicle, the appointment of a committee of three experts of the Cromwell epoch to examine the head, and if they find no reasonable doubt of its authenticity, it should be given sepulchre under the Cromwell monument

ALASKA BOUNDARY.

England Wants the Rich Mining Districts and is Scheming to Gain Her Point.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct 24.—The agitation of the Alaska boundary question has been taken up bodily by the American residents of Juneau and a move is now being made to form a boundary club at that place to keep the people and the government fully alive to the danger of losing the invaluable Yukon mines As already indicated the war cry 'Ten Marine Leagues or Fight" is being sounded The situation is given by G B. Swine heart, editor of the Alaska Mining Record, at Juneau, who is now in this city. "If England can get the Yukon country," he said, "she will be satisfied, and she hopes to accomplish that object by securing Dyea inlet as a port of entry She will also try to obtain Annetta Island, but will waive that and all other considerations in order to control the rich mines of the north. She would undoubtedly relinquish all claim to the rest of the territory to gain her end, and if she succeeds we might as well give up any claim on Alaska." W. Otis Smith, editor of the Alaskan, published at Sitka, is also in the city. He says: "All England wants is a seaport at the entrance to the Yukon country and she has raised this pretended claim on the southern boundary so that she may figure in the eyes of the world as magnanimous.

She will forego this claim magnanimously, if the United States will admit the claims she is setting up in the Chilcat country and let her have a seaport giving access to the Yukon.

But the boundary has long been established and I do not see why we should submit anything to arbitration."

THE LAST DAY.

The Charity Conference Will Close This Evening.

Child Saving Work Was the Topic of Last Night's Meeting—The Proceedings Today.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates to the Indiana state conference of charities and correction were treated to a drive about the city They visited the various public institutions. A large number were entertained by Superintendent Felts, at the county Infirmary

The evening session was as largely attended as any of the previous meetings.

Rev. J. H Guendling, of Lafayette, offered prayer, after which Mrs Goodhart, of Indianapolis, read a paper on "Child Saving" Mrs Goodhart said: "Neglect of child life from whatever cause, or in whatever condition of society, is fraught with disaster to the child, and is too often the stepping stone to vice and crime The orphan asylums that dot our fair state are evidences of the philanthrophic spirit that pervades it. Our public schools and free kindergartens are doing a noble work in the way of prevention, and yet notwithstanding the armies of little children who are being cared for through these agencies there are many young lives growing rank and running to waste as a result of pernicious teaching and evil association Obedient to the will of the people, the general assembly of 1859 passed an act intitled, 'an act to establish a board of children's guardians in townships having a population of 75 000 people,' and in 1891 the act was amended and its provisions extended to counties having a like population. When a parent neglects to perform the duties of a parent he should not have the privileges of one. When he beggars and degrades his child, society suffers and it has the right to defend itself in whatever way it may seem best. If the state has the right to punish crime, it has the right to prevent it. If it has the right to imprison or to hang a man, it has the right to remove children from conditions that will make them criminal"

Mrs. M T. Dykeman, of Logansport, read a paper on the subject of 'Dependent Children" The subject was discussed by Mrs Dykeman in a most interesting manner and all who heard her paper profited thereby.

Mrs. Dykeman thought a child should not be kept in an institution after they were twelve years of age Good homes should be provided for them as soon as they can be found. Her paper was full and running over with good things

Rev. Father Guendling, superintendent of St. Joseph's Orphans' home, of Lafayette, had as the subject of his paper, "Catholic Orphanges"

Charity, he said, is the distinguishing incentive which has actuated Christianity, the Christian church and its members It is the highest, the purest, the most perfect motive for good, the corner stone of the Christian church, for without charity Christianity could not exist. There are 256 sisters of charity in the state. In 1894 they cared for 4 900 poor, suffering and forsaken persons. Their orphan asylums sheltered and nourished nearly 500 children, all of whom look up to and regard the "sisters" with the same love and affection usually lavished on parents. It is this which makes the management a task of comparative ease. Rev. Guendling stated that the children who are able to learn are taught a trade in order that they may become self supporting

H. Bamberger, of Indianapolis, a prominent Jewish merchant, was called upon to speak and he explained in a concise but comprehensive manner the charity work that is done by his people. Mr. Bamberger was frequently applauded during his remarks.

TODAY'S SESSION

This morning's session was opened by prayer by Timothy Nicholson. The election of officers then took place for the coming year, and resulted as follows:

President—Timothy Nicholson, Richmond.

Secretary—J. W. Tingle

Executive Committee—John Howard, Winchester; Rev John R. Quinlan, Fort Wayne, E P Bicknell, Indianapolis.

The paper that attracted the most attention during the morning session, was the one on "How Shall Prison Labor be Utilized so as Not to Compete With Free Labor," by W. C. Ball, editor of the Terre Haute Gazette. The paper contained many very valuable suggestions. Mr Ball is in favor of having all the school books for the state printed in the northern and southern prison and furnished to the children of the state at almost cost price. He also wanted all the shoes, clothes, etc., for the inmates of the poor houses and different institutions made there. The paper contained many reforms that we hope will some day be put in operation.

Hon. Levi Mock, of Bluffton, who had a paper on 'Criminal Responsibility," was not present but his paper was read by Superintendent Glascock, of the School for the Blind. It contained many good points

Miss Laura Reem, on account of sickness, was prevented being present and her paper was read by Secretary Bicknell.

The conference closes tonight The last session will be held in the chapel of the Institute for Feeble Minded Youths.

WESTMINSTER WINS.

The Damage Suit Against the Institution Dismissed

Because the Proper Parties Had Not Been Sued—News in the City Courts.

The trial of the case of Henry Diebold, administrator of the estate of Clara Diebold against the Westminster Seminary for $15,000 damages was begun before Judge O'Rourke and a jury in the circuit court this morning, but came to an abrupt end almost before it had been fairly underway, by the plaintiff's attorneys dismissing the action

The father of Clara Diebold, it will be remembered had brought the action against the Westminster Seminary for damages for the death of his daughter, who had suffered injuries from a sewer gas explosion which occurred at the seminary on account of an alleged defect in the pipes.

The plaintiffs' attorneys placed Miss Carrie B Sharp and Mr Hoffman on the stand to prove the incorporation, when it developed that they had commenced accident against the wrong parties, the association owning the building in which the action had occurred being the Westminster Seminary association instead of the Westminster seminary, as named in the complaint, and that the latter were merely tenants of the former

The plaintiffs' attorneys J M Robinson and Colerick & France, as soon as the proof developed these facts, dismissed the action A new suit against the Westminster Seminary association may be instituted, but this will probably not be done

Zollars & Worden were the attorneys for the defendants

DEADLY DIPHTHERIA.

The City Council Takes Up and Discusses the Subject.

An Appropriation Made to Aid in Stamping Out the Disease in This City.

For the purpose of taking some action relative to the prevention of the spread of contagious diseases here the city council met last night in the office of Clerk Jeffries, with all the members in attendance except Councilmen Bortenstein, Griebel, Kelker and Mohr

Dr. Geo B Stemen and Dr A. E. Van Buskirk, of the board of health, were also present, as well as a number of prominent physicians of the city.

Councilmen Loesch, Summers and Waltemath composed the committee on public health, which was instructed at Tuesday night's council meeting, to look into the matter and formulate some plan for preventing the spread of the diphtheria epidemic, reported to the council as follows:

"We, your committee on health, respectfully submit this, and accompanying ordinance, as our report after hearing the various physicians who appeared before open council, October 22, and also after meeting the committee of physicians appointed by the Allen County Medical society for the purpose of conferring with the council in regard to the conditions of health of this city and suppressing the contagion of diphtheria, have come to the conclusion that the board of public health be empowered to give the bacteriologist extra power in order to thoroughly carry out the necessary order

'We also met with the board of health at their regular session this 10 a m, and find by looking over their reports for the month of September that there were eight cases reported to them in the city of Fort Wayne, and further find since this epidemic has appeared, that they have taken precaution and ordered a reasonable quantity of anti toxine for their use in abating diphtheria, and have exercised all the powers that they have to prevent any further spread of the disease

'We further find that the board of health has not enough money appropriated to hire more than one sanitary policeman to watch over all the territory within our city, and that one man can not take care of efficiently, so much territory, and especially this is so where an epidemic is threatening.

We think that if the council will appropriate five hundred dollars ($500) for the purpose of hiring additional sanitary police, and that the board of health will place these sanitary police under the direction of the bacteriologist that our city will soon be almost entirely rid of the contagion.

'As to establishing a hospital for the treatment of contagious diseases, we think it advisable that the Allen County Medical society confer with the board of public health."

Dr Geo B. Stemen on behalf of the board of health, addressed the council and said We have today twenty six cases in Fort Wayne, all told We have had during the year, that is, from the 1st of January until the present time, ninety-three cases of diphtheria Out of 251 cases reported by the different physicians of the city, only ninety three cases, after being examined by the bacteriologist, proved to be diphtheria, which clearly shows the value of maintaining a bacteriological department in the city. We have had 158 families who have not had to be quarantined after an examination was made by the bacteriologist Last year, there were at different times, more cases than we have at the present time in one month last year we had sixty-five cases, while the highest we have had in one month this year, has been twenty-six cases.

Drs. Buchman and C. B Stemen and Councilmen McDonald and Tigar spoke in favor of increasing the salary of the city bacteriologist, it having been clearly demonstrated during the past summer that a necessity existed for the maintainance of such an office in this city, and on motion of Councilman Tigar the board of health and charities were instructed to increase the salary of the bacteriologist from $60 to $100 per month.

An ordinance appropriating $500 for the use of the board of public health and charities for additional sanitary police was passed.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that the Cuban war is costing Spain about $200,000 a day

THE pope is said to be in very feeble health, and it is believed that he will not survive the winter

THE Jewish population of New York city is now estimated at 300 000 or fully twice as great as fifteen years ago.

AT A political convention of Berkshire county, Massachusetts, a son presided and threatened to have his father ejected from the hall if he didn't come to order

THE state health officers insist that it is necessary that all citizens using water from open wells shall clean out the wells, now that the water is very low in most of them and completely given out in others. If they are cleaned out now the fall rains will furnish good, pure water. It is the filth that accumulates in the bottom of wells as well as low water, that causes typhoid fever.

THREE converted African chiefs who recently visited London were asked about the effects of the liquor traffic One replied: "I am glad you ask me about the drink, for I call it destruction. It is the destruction of my people. They lose their good standing and food and speech because of it The white man's drink is a worse foe to my people than the weapons of Lobengula." Another said: "English liquor maddens, it destroys even our little children. All kinds of evil come out of the beer pot. I have put it down" African chiefs have more sense than many people in civilized lands. The liquor business is the crowning scandal of so-called Christian countries."

WHAT a pitiable spectacle is American politics when one or two political bosses can dictate to the whole party who shall or shall not be their candidate for president of the United States! It is said that Mr. Harrison cannot be a candidate because Quay, of Pennsylvania, and Platt, of New York, make his nomination impossible Is ours a government of the people and for the people, or is it intended for the glory and emolument of a few bosses and schemers? Of all despicable things in national, state and city politics nothing is more contemptible than bossism.

Take a brain that is steeped in solution of knowledge, most varied and picturesque under the sun, then just add a pinch of the salt of the college, a flavor of wit and a soupcon of fun, for a relish, Bohemian sauce is a caper, and a mind that will stretch from Beersheba to Dan, in fancy or fact, when it comes to the 'paper,' or touches the heart of the newspaper man. To a memory that clutches the veriest trifle, and a hand that is tireless when work's to be done; add an eye that is quick as the flash of a rifle, and as keen as the eagle that flies in the sun Take strength, and endurance, and loyal devotion, and add all the grit and courage you can to the heart that's as big and as deep as the ocean, a hundred to one on the newspaper man! With a brow of ideas, that seething and boiling, run out into molds that are models for men add a ceaseless encounter with planning and toiling for the wide world today that is ruled by the pen, add the sirup of friendship, the dew of affection, and the esprit de corps that gets down to hard pan, and paste in your hat the whole mortal concoction, as the regular stock of the newspaper man.

There Are Still Heroes.

Who says there is no pluck or manly courage or unselfishness left among the young men of this generation? Certainly no one who reads the story of Edward James Glave in The Century His life was a very short one, covering less than 33 years, yet he managed to crowd into it brave, unselfish work, thrilling exploit and dazzling achievement enough to make his name live among men

From his boyhood this English youth had followed with breathless interest every step of Stanley's way through Africa. He had read the story so closely that he knew every page of it, and his heart bounded within him to join Stanley in Africa. When he left school, he served a brief time in a counting room But he was a born explorer, and his heart was far away in the jungle He besieged the International African association with letters, gave them no rest till at last he received a commission to go to Africa. He burned with desire to do the hardest work, and Stanley gave him just what he wanted and chose.

His family and friends could ask no better epitaph to his memory than the words of his commander:

"His conscientiousness, his inflexible determination to do the most that can be done in a given period, the love with which he set about it and the absorbing interest it has for him make me, who know his worth, feel sorry that he cannot find the peculiar hard task for which he is so fitted and wherein he could be so happy. Many people have called me hard, but they are always those whose presence a field of work could best dispense with and whose nobility is too nice to be stained with toil Glave is not one of these, but a man who relishes a task for its bigness and takes to it with a free joy

It gives the story a melancholy interest to know that afterward the young hero found the big, hard task he craved and died just when he had accomplished it.

Sale of Farm Lands.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press chronicles the fact that the sales of farm lands in the northwest are larger than they have been in some years. A decided movement from the cities back to the farms is also noted in the northwest. We are informed, too, that many college graduates of this year intend to make scientific farming their business instead of studying law

We are glad to know of all this, glad to be informed, too, of the increasing use of electricity in scientific farming, so that the agriculturist will be able to raise under glass all the fruits and vegetables of the tropics and take his ease at the same time The use of machinery, chemistry and electricity, we are told, will make of the farmer's life one grand, sweet song

'Tis well. Under a rightly organized system it would probably take not quite half the population of a country to raise food for the manufacturing and commercial part of the population, also for that increasing number of citizens, male and female, who toil not, neither spin It is well for all mankind to have an abundance of everything good to eat and drink But when, as is the case this autumn, the farmer has already raised so much that the price he gets will not pay for the work it has cost him, the freight rates, commission and other expenses being counted, what is there encouraging in the fact that more farms are being bought and more people are turning from the city life to agricultural life?

Henry Clay, a select councilman of Philadelphia, in advocating open court trials for policemen and firemen charged with violations of discipline struck a responsive chord in the American breast. Everybody agrees precisely with the following statement: "The overwhelming sentiment of the American people is against all secrecy in the proceedings of public officials or public bodies, and the people are entitled to full knowledge of all such proceedings and all things that pertain to public affairs."

The Philadelphia Ledger is quite right in declaring it is time the citizens of Pennsylvania took some note of William Penn's birthdays and made proper provision for celebrating them. Even the Pennsylvania school children seem to have mostly forgotten the great Quaker—the American who never tried to cheat Indians.

The kind of a government Japan is can be judged from the following from one of Colonel Cockerill's dispatches to The New York Herald in reference to the participation of Japanese in the murder of the queen of Korea: "I have personal assurance from the Japanese government that every guilty person will be punished."

SCHELL IN COURT.

Was Arraigned at Peru But His Hearing Postponed.

The Facts About His Case for Damages for Imprisonment and His Offer of Settlement.

Ed Schell who was arrested here Wednesday on the charge of swearing to an affidavit against Horace E Barnard and signing it in the name of "Elmer E White," and taken to Peru, had a hearing yesterday at that place and the trial of his case postponed until Saturday. In speaking of the case, last evening's Peru Journal says

"This morning Schell was brought up stairs and an effort was made to identify him as the man who was here as 'Elmer E White', Mayor Zern, Prosecutor Tillett and others, who had seen the man who caused Barnard's arrest, made an effort to decide if Schell is the same man. The mayor and prosecutor seemed to have no doubt of his identity, but others who had seen the first fellow think they are not the same. Mayor Zern asked Schell to write the name 'Elmer E White,' and it seemed to correspond with the same name which had been written on the affidavit against Barnard. Schell, of course, denies that he is the person who made affidavit as Elmer E White' and says he can bring Fort Wayne witnesses to prove he was at home on September 5th when the affidavit was made here He says he has a wife and mother in Fort Wayne, that Barnard is persecuting him in this manner through spite, and that it has already cost him $200 or more to try and get out of the trouble he has already been in. He has retained counsel and will have a preliminary trial Saturday on the charge of perjury which Mr. Barnard brought against him The punishment for this offense is imprisonment in the penitentiary."

The day before his arrest in this city THE SENTINEL, and the other evening papers, on the authority of Schell, who produced letters to show it, published the statement that an offer had been made for a settlement of the case he purposed bringing against Rush county for damages for false imprisonment. The letter Schell showed while here appears to have been a forgery, as will be seen by the following telegram from Rushville published in the Gazette this morning

"RUSHVILLE, Ind, Oct 24—The article in THE FORT WAYNE SENTINEL and other papers stating that Edward L. Schell, of that city, had brought suit against Rush county and Sheriff McFarlan for $10,000 damages for false imprisonment, and that a compromise was subsequently effected for $2 500, caused considerable surprise here. The article is false from beginning to end. Schell never filed a damage suit and no compromise was made. The startling part of the article, however, is the letter in the Fort Wayne paper, purporting to have been written by Cullen & Magee, attorneys of this city, regarding the withdrawal of the suit and compromising the same. John D Magee pronounces the letter a fabrication, and states that the firm of Cullen & Magee had never been approached by E L. Schell on the subject of a damage suit"

It is claimed that typhoid fever is epidemic in Frankfort and Clinton counties, and that fully 150 cases have been reported. In several communities the schools have closed, and teachers and pupils are ill The cause is attributed to low water in the wells and the general drought.

Frank M. Peck, of Louisville, Ky., while in Anderson, received $550 in part payment of property, and he began drinking to excess. He was finally led to an alley and knocked down, but the suspicions of the police were aroused in time to prevent robbery. One of his assailants was captured.

An old file of the Vincennes Sun was recently discovered containing a marriage notice of the Hon. W. R Thompson, the pioneer statesman and politician of Terre Haute, and Miss Harriet Eliza Gardner, of Columbus, Ohio The wedding occurred on May 5, 1836, at which time Colonel Thompson was editor of the Bedford Spy, at Bedford, this state.

There was a surprise in the circuit court yesterday at Brazil when Mrs. Margaret Dalgarn, of Bowling Green, was carried in and testified that she was induced by her son to sign a deed which conveyed her individual one-third interest in the old homestead to him at a time when she did not know the nature of the signature he required. Mrs. Dalgarn is an invalid, and although her physician certified that she could not stand the ordeal, she insisted upon being taken to court, fourteen miles away that she might testify.

STANDS THE TEST.

Judge Cox Says the Nicholson Law is Constitutional.

Restaurants Which Have Saloons Attached Must Close When the Bars Are Closed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind Oct 25—Judge Cox, of the police court in a test case to day, held the Nicholson law constitutional. The section in question was the one forbidding persons other than the saloonkeeper and his family to enter the saloon in prohibited hours The defendant was Frederick Brandt who has a restaurant attached to his saloon. Under today's ruling restaurants to which bars are attached will have to close when the bars are shut up An appeal is probable. Judge Stubbs, from the same court before retiring from office a month ago, held this section unconstitutional

MRS. T. S. TAYLOR.

Mourns Her Death in Washington, D. C., on October 21st.

The following account of the death of Mrs. Thomas S Taylor was published in the Washington Post, of October 22 Mrs Taylor was formerly a resident of Fort Wayne and had many friends here

"Mrs Livonia Morse Taylor, wife of Thomas S Taylor, of the postoffice department, died at her home, 2306 L street northwest, yesterday. While her health seemed to be failing, it was not until a week ago Sunday that she was compelled to abandon her duties and accept the ministrations of others She failed rapidly, and both physicians and friends soon became convinced that her case was hopeless. Mrs Taylor was the daughter of the late Emory and Emily L Morse, of Lima Lagrange county, Ind, at which place she was born on April 20, 1846 Her marriage to Mr. Taylor occurred December 3, 1863 From 1868 to 1873 they resided in Fort Wayne, Ind. Since 1873 her home has been in this city. Soon after arriving here she united with the First Presbyterian church, and was indefatigably devoted to church and charitable work. Services will be held at the residence, after which the remains will be taken to South Bend, Ind, for interment."

THE LAST SESSION

Of the Charity Conference Was Held Last Night—Excellent Papers Read.

The state conference of charities closed its session last night. Yesterday afternoon the delegates were entertained by Superintendent Johnson and wife, at the institute for feeble minded youths, who conducted them through the entire institution, showing the excellent arrangements and management. At 6 o'clock supper was served

The evening meeting was held in the chapel of the institution. The subject for consideration was 'The Care of the Feeble Minded," E. P. Bicknell, secretary of the state board of charities, read a paper on the 'Custodial Care of Adult Imbeciles." Mr Bicknell's paper was excellent. It contained many valuable suggestions as to the proper manner in which the insane should be cared for.

Superintendent Johnson spoke on "The Colony Plan As it is and As It May Be" This was one of the very interesting addresses of the conference and called out much favorable comment upon its many good points.

After this paper and address the new president, Timothy Nicholson, of Richmond, was formally introduced.

Farewell addresses were made by local and visiting delegates After a vote of thanks had been passed for the entertainment of the delegates, the conference adjourned to meet in Richmond next year.

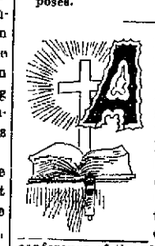
Decree Subject to Court Costs.

WABASH Ind. Oct 25—Regarding the movement throughout the state to hedge about with a little more difficulty the obtaining of divorces owing to the rapidly increasing number of applications for judicial separations, it is the practice of Judge Shively, of the Wabash circuit court, to withhold the decree until the attorneys the court costs and the newspaper bills are all settled No matter how strong the proof the divorce is not granted till the last dollar of expense is liquidated. As a result the number of irresponsible people applying for divorces is less in Wabash than in other counties, where Wabash applicants, who are impecunious, go to file their suits

HE IS A LAY LEADER.

JAMES B. HOBBS A PILLAR OF METHODISM.

The Fortune Which He Created as a Member of the Chicago Board of Trade Being Used for Good Purposes.



AMONG the most most conspicuous lay leaders of the Methodist Episcopal church in the West is James B. Hobbs, who has just been elected to the coveted position of lay delegate from the Chicago conference to the general conference of the church at large. On the informal ballot his commanding popularity was attested by a vote which gave him but five less than a clear majority over all competitors Mr. Hobbs is ranked among the leading capitalists of Chicago, and was for thirty years an influential member of the Chicago board of trade. He now holds his original membership ticket in that institution, for which he paid $10. It has been some years since he voluntarily retired from active business on the board and he now divides his time about equally between looking after his large investments and pushing the cause of Methodism in the West. Mr. Hobbs was born in Sebastis, Me., sixty-five years ago His father died when he was 3 years of age, and for twelve years he was cared for in a precarious way by relatives and friends. By working as a farm hand in summer he contrived to spend a few terms at the Litchfield, Me., institute. In 1850 he learned the masons' trade, went to Chicago in 1855 and soon entered the produce commission business. He served a term as president of the Chicago board of trade and is now president of the Twenty-fourth ward branch of the Civic Federation of that city. In 1888 he was a candidate of the prohibition party for governor of Illinois, and he is now a member of the national central committee of that party. As a member of the national prohibition party executive committee from 1888 to 1892, he exerted a strong influence on the movements of his party. In 1891 he was sent to the ecumenical conference at Washington, D. C., and attended the general conference at Omaha, in 1892, as a member of the committee having in charge the location of the conference. Mr. Hobbs has been a constant and liberal contributor to the cause of Methodism, and donated $25,000 to the erection of the observatory connected with the Northwestern

BOUTEILHE AND HIS BOMB.

The Young Man Who Committed the Outrage at Rothschilds' Bank.

The man who threw the bomb at M. de Rothschild's bank in the Rue Lafitte, Paris, several weeks ago, is not an anarchist He is one of those discontented individuals who consider that their talents ought to have raised them to high positions, and who neglect the humbler work they have before them. Marie Andre Victor Leon Bouteilhe—to give the criminal's name in full—is the son of one of the "officers" of the commune. He was educated at a Paris lycee, but he never distinguished himself, and at the age of 18 he enlisted in a regiment of Algerian trailleurs, with whom he remained five years. On his return he found some employment, and in 1893 he was taken into the service of the Western Railway company and passed into several offices at Courbevoie Saint Cloud and Asnieres. It appears, however, that his conduct was anything but satisfactory, and after several reprimands from his superiors, Bouteilhe left his station Being thus thrown out of employment and greatly in want of money he went to live at his mother's house in the Rue Montparnasse. Mme Bouteilhe, who lives with her two daughters, is much respected by her friends and acquaintances, while her daughters are hard working girls, one being employed in a bank, the other in a telephone office. The extravagant talk of Bouteilhe went unheeded by his mother and sisters, and they experienced a great shock on hearing who the perpetrator of the Rue Lafitte outrage was. One of Bouteilhe's favorite topics was the absurdity of the country giving a man an education and then leaving him without employment. The bomb was fabricated by Bouteilhe alone in a thicket in the Bois de Vincennes. The prisoner at first hinted that he had accomplices, and also gave a false account of the composition of the bomb. The three tradesmen of whom he purchased the materials have recognized him, and subsequently Bouteilhe declared that he committed the deed as a protest against the rich, and without any assistance, but he denied that he sent the explosive letter. He was a great admirer of Vaillant and Emile Henry, and sometimes expressed himself in favor of their sort of "propaganda," and of a general strike. He was a conceited fellow, and on one occasion when advised to go into trade, he exclaimed, "Trade disgusts me." Bouteilhe detested work that soiled his hands, and on the same occasion he cried, "Was I made for those jobs?" His ambition was to enter one of the big Parisian stores as a clerk. Bouteilhe was sentenced to three years imprisonment.

Not Half Bad Enough.

"I don't see why I am so neglected," said the habitual criminal, as he looked out between the bars of his cell.

"What's the matter?" asked the defaulter, who was walking up and down the jail corridor.

"No one ever sends me any flowers and no women come around to weep and make much of me," explained the habitual criminal.

"Oh, that's easily explained," said the defaulter.

"How?"

"The crime for which you were arrested was not horrible and fiendish enough to attract them."—Chicago Evening Post.

Just as a Favor.

The man who knows it all had been talking, and in his superior way had settled every question that had come up until the quiet little man was moved to speak.

"Will you grant me one little favor?" he asked humbly, as became a man who realized that he was addressing one who knows it all.

"Certainly," replied the other. "What is it?"

"Well, will you kindly permit me to know something about one or two subjects in which I am personally interested if I will concede all the knowledge of everything else to you?"

And after that there was a lull in the conversation that seemed to indicate that permission had been given.—Chicago Post.

Muggins—Do you think smoking is injurious?

Not at Home.

The Buffalo Courier tells this story of two young ladies who are recent graduates of a seminary not named. They were touring in the east this summer and stopped at Salem, Mass., to visit the house formerly occupied by Nathaniel Hawthorne. They rang the bell at the old homestead and awaited a response. Soon a decrepit old lady came to the door and asked the young visitors what they wanted. "Is—ah—Mr. Hawthorne in?" stammeringly asked one.

Technical.

Tenant—You said the house was not cold, and we have nearly frozen to death ever since we moved into it.

Real Estate Agent—I had every reason to think I was telling the truth. I had never heard the house complain of feeling chilly. As to the people in it, of course I knew nothing. That is quite another matter, you know.—Boston Transcript.

Logical.

Mrs. O'Flaherty—I see by the paper that the railroad's afther payin twice as much for cuttin off a man's leg as it did for killin was. I don't understand it at all, at all.

The Nickel Plate Water Stations Drying Up.

Accidents, Incidents and Personal Mention of the Shops and the Men Who Work Therein.

Warner Carpenter, fireman at the electric works, is sick.

The engine pits in the Wabash round house are being repaired.

Henry Dryer and Nick Madden, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shops, are on the sick list.

After an illness of ten days, Engineer Cooper has resumed his duties on the Nickel Plate.

Supt. C. H. Walton, of the Panhandle, was here last night. His mother is again quite ill.

S. R. Bachtel, of Massillon, O., has taken a position as draughtsman at the electric light works.

Miss Mary McNearney, janitress at the Pittsburg depot, has gone to Payne, Ohio, to attend a funeral.

The Wabash is arranging to establish a through line of sleeping cars between St. Paul and Los Angeles.

The Wabash shops this week repaired and turned out engines 41, 57 and 373 and took in for repairs engines 333 and 337.

The electric works sent a 2,000-light, incandescent system, dynamo and all the necessary fixtures to St. Mary's, Ohio, today.

Nickel Plate Firemen Evans and W. Hurlbut are taking a vacation. The former will spend his at Stony Island with relatives.

The Wabash is, this week, receiving bids for the new hospital building it proposes to erect at Peru, Ind., which will cost $27 000.

George Hess and W. M. Laurence have secured positions in the machine department of the electric works under Foreman Knothe.

Robert Hartnett resumed work in the Pittsburg shops this morning, after an absence of three weeks. He was visiting relatives in Missouri.

H. T. Swegman is in Delphi, spending a few days with his mother and sister. Mr. Swegman is a clerk in Superintendent C. D. Law's office.

J. Smith and J. Schroyer have resumed their old positions in the east end shops, after working a while in the Pittsburg shops on Lafayette street.

Henry Sinegan, an employe of Rhinesmith & Simonson, is off duty on account of a sprained ankle, the result of stepping upon a round stone, which rolled under his foot.

Henry Roehm, of the electric works, has resumed his shop duties, the quarantine on himself and premises having been raised. There was diphtheria in the family of Mr. Roehm.

General Manager Hughart, Division Superintendent O'Rourke, and other officials of the Grand Rapids and Indiana, were out on an inspection tour this week. They were looking especially after depots that need repairs.

The Pullman dining cars, which the Pennsylvania took off the hands of the Pullman company, when they decided to operate their own dining cars, are being remodeled in the company's shops.

Superintendent Potter, of the Toledo division of the Pennsylvania lines, has asked the company to furnish one thousand new cars for service on that division, on which the business is rapidly increasing.

A heavy rain fall would be welcomed by the Nickel Plate officials and employes. There is a water famine on the third district of the line, Fort Wayne to Bellevue, and water is being hauled from this city.

The Pennsylvania railroad's coal shipments on lines west of Pittsburg for the year up to October 12, were, in round numbers, 5,000,000 tons in excess of the shipments for the corresponding period last year.

Owing to the financial necessities of Illinois, the Illinois Central company has advanced $250 000 to the state treasury, the sum being 6 per cent. of its gross earnings for six months. It was not due until December.

The yards of the Chicago division of the Big Four are now over five miles long, extending from 1 500 feet east of the eastern switches of the Belt road to 1,500 feet west of the extreme western switch at North Indianapolis.

The report has been revived that the Wabash is to build a link from a point on its Chicago division to Union City, Ind., where connection would be made with the Dayton and Union and the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton for Cincinnati. If built, the road will pass through Portland and Huntington.

When in Louisville, the other day, Col. Samuel Moody, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, was presented by his friends with an onyx clock and a pair of very expensive vases, accompanied with resolutions thanking him for his efforts to make so much of a success of the G. A. R. encampment at Louisville.

Col. R. G. Thompson, district passenger agent of the Wabash, this morning received notice of six special sales which his company will make of tickets to Atlanta. The dates of sale are October 26, November 5, 15 and 25 and December 5 and 6, good returning ten days after sale. The fare is $16 25 for the round trip. The regular fare is $19 10 one way.

Pennsylvania official, who was with the inspection party, in speaking of contemplated improvements on the Panhandle lines, said it would take $5,000,000 to put the Panhandle in the perfect condition aimed at, which means the doubling of the track of considerable portions of the road. A large per cent. of the mileage between Columbus and Pittsburg is now double track.

Thirty-five Fort Wayne people attended the Catholic church fair at Arcola last evening, the Pennsylvania company making them a special rate on account of their number. They came back on No. 38, which was a half-hour late, reaching home at 11 o'clock. The music at the fair was furnished by Prof. Henry Krull, assisted by the D. & M. Music club, and it was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Engine 235, class R, was turned out of the Pittsburg shops today and tomorrow the machinists will commence work upon the seventh and last of this class of engines to be built in the Fort Wayne shops this year. There is so much repair work on hand at present, being thirteen engines in the shops, that it will be late in November when another new engine is completed. Tomorrow engines 202, 199 and 902, the latter from the eastern division, will leave the shops thoroughly repaired.

Interest in football is being revived in shop circles and there will be several good games during the coming season. The Pittsburg shopmen will have a team, as usual, and will commence practicing as soon as A. J. Dawson, the leader, returns from Kentucky. The boys have received and accepted a challenge to play a game on Thanksgiving day with the Lima, Ohio, team, the only question of doubt being the place of meeting. It is hoped that the Lima team will come here, though there is nothing definite to say concerning the matter as yet.

THE DROUGHT A BENEFIT TO RAILWAYS.

While some complaints are heard about the trouble that the drought has occasioned along the lines of some of the railroads, it is, nevertheless, a fact that the dry weather has been of much benefit to all the roads which penetrate the Ohio river territory. No better evidence of this fact is needed than what may be obtained by a visit to some of the railway stations along the river where hundreds of cars of produce and other commodities usually shipped by water are now being loaded on the cars. The Ohio River railroad and the Wheeling division of the Panhandle, Baltimore and Ohio and Cleveland and Pittsburg are at present doing the largest business in their history, and it is mostly due to the fact that not a pound of freight can be shipped by water. At Pittsburg thousands of tons of freight that is usually sent down the river on boats is now hauled to the local freight stations and loaded on the cars.

A NEW DYSPEPSIA CURE.

Over 6,000 People in State of Michigan Cured in 1894 by this New Preparation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the new discovery for stomach troubles, is claimed to have cured over 6,000 people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894. These tablets have become so popular with physicians and people who have any form of indigestion that they have the endorsement of such physicians as Dr Harlandson and Dr Jennison as being the safest, most reliable remedy for sour stomach, chronic dyspepsia, gas, bloating, palpitation, headache, constipation, and in all cases where the appetite is poor or the food imperfectly digested.

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any kind of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. They are not a secret patent medicine but composed of vegetable and fruit essences, pure pepsin, Golden Seal, ginger and the digestive acids. They are pleasant to take, can be carried in the pocket, and they cure because they digest the food promptly before it has time to ferment and poison the blood.

Druggists everywhere sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, at 50 Cents. A book on Stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing The Stuart Co, Marshall, Mich.

Miss Clara Wales will leave Monday for her home in Indianapolis.

A Loud Ring of Your Doorbell in the dead hours of night is alarming. So is the first hollow sound of a cough from one's husband, wife, son, or daughter. It is disease knocking with perhaps a certain silent visitor waiting not far away. Arrest that cough. Stop it! Stop it at the start. A few days' use of Ely's Pinecola Balsam and the danger is past. Relief is immediate; a cure certain. This remedy is rich in the curative principles of the balsams and also contains certain ingredients that are new

THE NEW COMMANDER.

A Short Biographic Sketch of Gen. Ivan Noble Walker.

Gen. Ivan Noble Walker, who was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at the National Encampment in Louisville, is a native of Indiana, having been born in Rush county, Feb. 3, 1849, and he has been a member of the G. A. R. since 1867. At the breaking out of the war Gen. Walker held an important civil office, but he resigned this to devote his services to the cause of the union. He raised a company of volunteers, which was incorporated into the 73d Indiana regiment, under his command. This body was sent to the front at once, and was engaged at Richmond, Perryville, and Stone River, where for gallant conduct Capt. Walker won the rank of major. Soon afterwards, in March, 1863, he was promoted to lieutenant colonel and at the death of the colonel in May following he was placed in command of the regiment. In a daring raid which he led into the enemy's country Col. Walker was captured and shut up in Libby Prison, from which he escaped, however, through the tunnel made in February, 1864. Returning to his regiment, he rendered important service in the Army of the Cumberland by protecting the line of supplies between Stevenson and Decatur during the advance on Atlanta. For his services at the battle of Nashville he received the personal thanks of Gen. Thomas. After the close of the war, owing to ill health resulting from his sufferings while confined in Libby Prison, Gen. Walker took up his residence in Nashville, but he returned to Indianapolis in 1871, and has dwelt there ever since. He served as commander of the George A. Thomas Post, G. A. R., on the reorganization of the Department of Indiana, and was appointed assistant adjutant general in 1887. In 1891 he was chosen department commander, and during his four years of service as executive officer the department membership has increased more than six thousand. One of his most notable acts as a member of the veteran organization was his report as chairman of the pension committee to the National Encampment at Indianapolis, which was unanimously endorsed by the Encampment.

Senator Frye's Hobby.

Of all the statesmen who "went into the woods" last summer in search of fishing or shooting, Senator Frye seems to have had the finest camp. It was a five-room log cottage, built midway between two of the Rangley lakes, with a hospitable, big fireplace as its chief interior ornament. There, with fishing in the morning, entertaining in the afternoon, and whist in the evening, he found life wholly enjoyable. As an evidence of the senator's hospitality, it was no unusual sight to see twenty visitors' canoes moored at the landing near the camp.

MAX NORDAU.

A Few Words About a Notable Character of To-day.

Max Nordau, the author of the much-discussed book, "Degeneration," does not wish to be known as a specialist. In an interview recently he said the reason why he wrote "Degeneration" was that he was sick of always hearing himself spoken of as the author of "The Conventional Lies of Our Civilization." Now that he is being spoken of universally as the author of "Degeneration," he is writing a novel—his third—and will not write the philosophical work which he has in his head until he has disassociated himself from the specialty of philosophical writing. Dr Nordau lives a very quiet, simple life with his mother and sister, whom he has entirely supported since he was 16 years old. He takes pleasure in nothing but work, and neither drinks, smokes, nor goes out into society. He speaks English, French, Italian, German and Hungarian with equal fluency, and can converse in Russian, Spanish and the Scandinavian languages. He is, moreover, an urbane and amiable man. Nordau is now about 46 years of age. He is of Jewish extraction, and originally studied to be a doctor. His hours of literary work are from 8 30 p. m. till midnight.

Jack's Idea.

Bobby: "If you fell overboard while on an ocean steamer, what would you do?"

Jack (four years old): "I'd go to sleep on one of the ocean's pillows."

Not So Funny After All.

Two little fellows struck a mine of amusement one day last week and worked it for all it was worth.

Their plan was to stand at the street corner and when a pedestrian got in good range they called out excitedly, pointing to the victim's feet:

"Say! You dropped your footsteps!"

It was great fun—for the boys.

Presently an old lady approached the corner. She was fat and looked important. The boys hugged themselves in sheer delight. This time, to prolong the enjoyment, they began:

"Say, missus! 'Scuse us, but you dropped something!"

"Dear me! What?" Such nice little boys, I'm sure." And she stopped and picked up a silver quarter lying directly before her and sailed on.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Page and his daughter, Miss Josie: "Just at a time when his facile pen was most in demand—during the progress of Fort Wayne's centennial celebration—the accomplished editor of the News of that place, Mr. William D Page was taken down with fever, and confined to his bed until it was all over with that marvelously successful affair. This was naturally a great annoyance a misfortune which only those can properly understand who know something about the perplexities of newspaper life, at such times. But Mr. Page is fortunate in having an advantage over most of his fellows in this, that he has an accomplished daughter. Miss Josie Page, who has made herself thoroughly familiar with the details of a successful newspaper business, and can edit, read proof, and manage affairs generally with a proficiency that atones largely for the enforced absence of even so accomplished a newspaper man as William D. Page. The value of such an 'adjunct is not to be computed in dollars and cents"

EXCITING RUNAWAY.

A Lumber Team Makes a Mad Dash on Calhoun and Jefferson Streets.

There was a runaway on Calhoun street yesterday afternoon that made no end of excitement and threatened to do great damage The team belonged to a Columbia City lumber man.

Near the corner of Montgomery and Calhoun streets the horses started to run away. They ran into a carriage containing Nickel Plate Conductor Ross and his daughter, Mrs Frank Purcell, and did it some damage. At Lewis street the driver jumped from the wagon and the team kept on running They turned west on Jefferson street; took a wheel off Nieman's grocery delivery wagon and stopped when a wheel of their own wagon came off near Webster street. Nobody was hurt, but the wagon and harness were damaged.

SUSPICIOUS MOVEMENTS.

British, Russian and Japanese Warships in Corean Waters.

There is Trouble Ahead and It Will Probably be a Three-Cornered Affair if Germany is Fighting.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that a Russian squadron of war ships left Vladivostock for Chemulpo and Fusan. The Japanese fleet in Formosa harbor, it is also stated, has been recalled, and it is announced on excellent authority that several British war ships have been ordered to sail for Corea. It is stated at Shanghai that Japan's reply to the demand of Russia that the former evacuate Corea is couched in pacific, but firm language, and protests against dictation by Russia in Corean affairs. It is regarded at Shanghai as certain that Russia will permanently occupy Fusan. The Shanghai dispatch says that the situation of affairs is most grave and that preparations for the expected struggle are visible on all sides, but it is hoped that a solution of the difficulty will be found in Russia and Japan agreeing to divide Corea.

GROOM SUDDENLY DECLINES.

Singular Conduct of Charles A. Larson on His Wedding Day.

LOWELL, Ind., Oct. 24.—Yesterday was the appointed time when Rev. J. Stites was to marry Charles A. Larson, of Hebron, Ind., and Miss Laura Bates, of this city. Guests were invited from Chicago, Shelbyville, Ind., other places, and this city. Preparations were being completed to celebrate the occasion in style, when Larson appeared on the scene and positively refused to marry the girl. He offered no excuse, only that it was best that he not marry her. No one knows what prompted him to do as he has, but since it has transpired that Larson has fooled four women in a similar manner, one at Shelbyville, Ind., and two at Monence, Ill. Miss Bates is highly respected in society circles at this city, and the occurrence has caused her to become nearly prostrated with grief.

COSTLY LUXURY FOR HAWKINS.

Procured by an Actress and Touched by His Wife.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 24.—Mrs. John Hawkins, of Niagara Falls, who followed her husband and a variety actress to this city, has succeeded by her tact in pursuit in breaking up the affair. Hawkins was deserted down by the actress, and the detectives have an intimation that the elopement was a scheme planned by her and her husband to bleed Hawkins, and that they succeeded in capturing all the money he had. Hawkins discovered that his wife was after him and has fled to Buffalo, whither she has followed him.

PRACTICALLY ENDED

In the Coal Strike in the Ohio Coal Fields.

MIDDLEPORT, O., Oct. 24.—The coal strike in the Massillon district is practically at an end, the miners having been gradually resuming work for several days past without the consent of their organization leaders. In each case work has been resumed on the same terms as those under which the miners of the state at large are now employed. A mass meeting of the Massillon district miners will be held here Saturday.

SAW HOGS EAT HER CHILD.

All the Mother Could Save Was the Infant's Arm.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 24.—A State Register special says that the two-year-old child of Mrs. George Rickards, of Ford county, was pulled into the hog pen by the hogs and devoured before the eyes of the mother, who, stunned by the child's screams, flew to the spot, but too late to render any assistance, though she caught an arm of the child, which the hogs then severed from the body.

THEATRICAL FIRES.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 24.—There appears to be every prospect of a fight over the possession of Lady Shelle Douglass between two theatrical managers of this city. October 7, George C. Thompson and Al Shea, of Boston, signed a two months contract with her lasting at $22 a week and expenses, the contract to expire December 14. Thompson & Shea commenced making arrangements for a tour through the adjacent cities and towns. They were thunderstruck to learn that the Pauley company had signed her ladyship for the remainder of the season at a larger figure, alleged to be $300 a week, but really about $100. Thompson and his partner will seek legal means to protect their interests.

SENATOR THURSTON.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 24.—The republican state central committee requested Senator Thurston to make a few speeches during the campaign but received a telegram today from San Diego saying that while the senator was improving slowly it was impossible for him to undertake any campaign work. He hopes for a complete restoration of health by the time congress meets and will return to vote.

The first forfeiture of $75,000 has been paid down, an equal amount will be due next month and so on until January 31 next, when the time of option will cease. This is one of the most important mining deals that has taken place in California for some years. The Champion mine is a few miles west of Nevada City.

A GRUESOME RELIC.

The Head of Oliver Cromwell Preserved in England.

For a Century It Has Been in the Possession of the Wilkeson Family at Swaithorp.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 24.—The statement was recently cabled from London that the Liverpool Post claimed to have discovered the head of Oliver Cromwell in the possession of the Wilkeson family, in Swaithorp, Kent, England. Sal Samuel Church, author of the "Life of Cromwell," in an interview here today says the existence of this head had been known a full hundred years, and competent judges believe it to be genuine. When in London last summer, Colonel Church suggested to the editor of the Chronicle, the appointment of a committee of three experts of the Cromwell epoch to examine the head, and if they find no reasonable doubt of its authenticity, it should be given sepulchre under the Cromwell monument.

ALASKA BOUNDARY.

England Wants the Rich Mining Districts and is Scheming to Gain Her Point.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 24.—The agitation of the Alaska boundary question has been taken up loudly by the American residents of Juneau and a move is now being made to form a boundary club at that place to keep the people and the government fully alive to the danger of losing the invaluable Yukon mines. As already indicated the war cry "Ten Marine Leagues or Fight" is being sounded. The situation is given by C. B. Reinehart, editor of the Alaska Mining Record, at Juneau, who is now in this city. "If England can get the Yukon country," he said, "she will be satisfied, and she hopes to accomplish that object by securing Dyea Inlet as a port of entry. She will also try to obtain Annette Island, but will waive that and all other considerations in order to control the rich mines of the north. She would undoubtedly relinquish all claim to the rest of the territory to gain her end, and if she succeeds we might as well give up any claim on Alaska." W. Ohl Smith, editor of the Alaskan, published at Sitka, is also in the city. He says: "All England wants is a seaport at the entrance to the Yukon country and she has raised this pretended claim on the southern boundary so that she may figure in the eyes of the world as magnanimous. The situation given this claim magnanimously, if the United States will admit the claimsshe is setting up in the Chilkat country and let her have a seaport giving access to the Yukon.

But the boundary has long been established and I do not see why we should submit anything to arbitration."

GIBSONBURG, Ohio, Oct. 24.—Shortly after midnight last night fire broke out in the rear of Whitney & Powers' grocery store, spread rapidly and burned two blocks containing twenty-two buildings, including about all the business places in the town. The Toledo department arrived at 2:45 a. m., and went to work to save the property. The north side of Madison and part of the west side of Main street were burned to the ground. Several estimate the loss, all told, at $250,000 to $300,000. A call for aid for those burned out will no doubt be made, as everything was destroyed.

KU CHENG EXECUTIONS.

Seven Murderers Pay the Penalty of Their Crimes.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 24.—The steamship Empress of Japan brings advices from the Orient as follows: A correspondent at Foo Chow sends the following account of the executions at Ku Cheng, on the morning of the 17th: Seven of the murderers were executed at the south gate of the city. All the members of the commission were present with the exception of Capt. Newell and Rev. Banaister. The scene was a gruesome one, only one head being severed at the first blow, the others being chopped and the unfortunate wretches left to die. The executions take place quite suddenly, the Tao Tai on the previous day announcing that he had received a telegram from the viceroy authorizing the executions. Since then the names of sixteen more criminals have been communicated to the viceroy for execution. The Mohammedan rebels in Kansu are increasing in strength. The soldiers sent to quell the rebellion are joining the rebels. The Mullin rebels are rumored to be dispersing, but there is no authentic information from Swatow. The marauders in southwest Kwang Tung, are still holding their own.

WOMAN BEATEN TO DEATH.

Authorities of Indiana Investigating a Case at Kendon.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—For several days there has been great excitement near Pigeon, in Spender county, over the death of Sallie Tolvin, twenty-four years old, who made her home with Martin Taylor, an uncle. Two women who dressed the body for the grave found it covered with bruises, and the coroner was notified. The girl lived as a member of Taylor's family. Yesterday a verdict was returned that she had been beaten to death. From is a Hills village, the center of an isolated neighborhood, some miles distant from Rockport, the county seat. The death occured several days ago, but the affair was slow in reaching the authorities.

COULDN'T STAND THE EXPENSE.

Pastor Waltrip Thought Elopement Cheaper Than a Wedding.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Oct. 24.—Rev. William Waltrip, a Baptist minister, and Miss Myrtle Hunsaker eloped from Grayson county, Kentucky, last night, and were married by Magistrate House. Pastor Waltrip gave no reason why he eloped further than saying that he did not desire to go to the expense incidental to a home wedding. Thomas D. Turner and Mollie Hutsler eloped from New Albany and were married by the same squire. The groom is nineteen and his bride forty-five years of age.

WANTS CASH FOR HIS CRIME.

Wife Slayer Makes Business Demands After Life Insurance.

MACOUPIAN, Ill., Oct. 24.—Gustave Monkhausen, who is serving a life term in the southern Illinois penitentiary for wife murder, has brought suit in the St. Clair county court against the supreme lodge, Knights and Ladies of Honor, to recover $1,000, the amount of the life insurance policy held by him for his wife. Monkhausen was convicted of poisoning his wife, and was sentenced to die. Governor Altgeld commuted his sentence to a life term. The main motive advanced by the state to secure Monkhausen's conviction was his desire for the insurance money.

MOTHER STOPS THE MARRIAGE.

Rev. Reed Newell's Tribulations Increasing a Bride.

The two were students at Wooster university several years ago, and were then engaged. It is stated that Mrs. Woodsworth threatened suicide if the marriage came off.

The Engine Buried Into a Canal and Postal and Freight Cars Piled Up Promiscuously.

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 24.—A disastrous wreck occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad, at Newport, at 2:15 o'clock this morning. A disabled car on the east bound freight jumped the track just as mail train No. 7 was at that point, whereon bad wreck resulted. The locomotive and tender were hurled into the canal and postal and freight cars were piled up over the tracks. Engineer Wolfill and Fireman Bauce, of Harrisburg, were instantly killed and eight or ten postal clerks were injured. CONTEMPT OF COURT.

A School Board May be Put Into Jail.

It Rans Colored Children From the Public Schools When Ordered to Admit Them.

PERRY, O. T., Oct. 24.—Henry Rock, acting as attorney for the colored people of Perry, said today that he was drawing up papers to have Perry's school board put in jail if they did not obey the writ of mandamus granted by Judge Skerrer ten days ago, ordering Prof. J. W. Augustine, of the board, to admit colored children to the public school. The board had previously ordered the colored scholars to go to their own school in another district. The case will be heard November 1. In the meantime the school board may have to go to jail for contempt of court.

FIGHTING IN CUBA.

Two of the Insurgent Force Killed in a Battle.

HAVANA, Oct. 24.—A skirmish has taken place in Pinalrio, province of Santa Clara, between a detachment of thirty-three infantry soldiers, commanded by Lieutenant Serrios, and a band of insurgents. Two of the latter were killed. The insurgents have declared a train near Piccolos. Lieutenant Gallego, who surrendered the small despatch boat, Don Enrique, at Guantadero Farm, near Santiago De Cuba, recently, to a number of insurgents who attacked the patrolling craft unexpectedly, as announced exclusively in the despatches to the Associated Press at the time, together with the crew of that vessel consisting of three men, is under arrest and will be tried by court martial. Five new cable offices will shortly be opened between Cienfuegos and Santiago de Cuba, namely, at Casilda, Tunas de Zaza, Jucaro, Santa Cruz and Manzanillo. These offices will be of great importance to conducting the military movements in that region. Commission has been received here of the report that a body of men was seen lately around Camparicos, on the Caniman river, province of Matanzas. These men are supposed to have belonged to a recently landed filibustering expedition, but no details regarding them have yet been made public.

HISTORY OF MASONS.

Committee Appointed by the Indiana Grand Lodge Lays Plans.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—The committee of historians appointed at the last meeting of the grand lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, to write a history of Indiana masonry, met today in this city and organized: Daniel McDonald, of Plymouth, past grand master, was appointed chairman; ex-Congressman Will E. English, of this city, was chosen secretary, and Thomas B. Long, of Terre Haute, past grand master, was elected treasurer. It was decided that the work should be thorough and complete, embracing all branches of masonry in Indiana. It is expected that three large volumes will be necessary. The work was so divided that Mr. McDonald will write the history of the Indiana Grand lodge of Ancient Masonry, Mr. Long that of the chapter and council degrees and Mr. English the history of the Indiana Scottish Rite and Knights Templars, together with an account of the masonic organizations in Indianapolis.

BROKE HIS NECK.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Joe Aronson, a brother of Rudolph Aronson, the well known operatic manager of New York city, was found dead this morning at the foot of the stairs of the lodgings here which he occupied in Warwick street. His neck was broken and it is supposed that he fell down stairs while suffering from an affection of the heart.

THE LAST DAY.

The Charity Conference Will Close This Evening.

Child Saving Work Was the Topic of Last Night's Meeting—The Proceedings Today.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates to the Indiana state conference of charities and correction were treated to a drive about the city. They visited the various public institutions. A large number were entertained by Superintendent Felts, at the county infirmary.

The evening session was as largely attended as any of the previous meetings.

Rev. J. H Guendling, of Lafayette, offered prayer, after which Mrs. Goodhart, of Indianapolis, read a paper on "Child Saving." Mrs. Goodhart said: "Neglect of child life from whatever cause, or in whatever condition of society, is fraught with disaster to the child, and is too often the stepping stone to vice and crime. The orphan asylums that dot our fair state are sufficences of the philanthropic spirit that pervades it. Our public schools and free kindergartens are doing a noble work in the way of prevention, and yet notwithstanding the armies of little children who are being cared for through these agencies there are many young lives growing rank and running to waste as a result of pernicious teaching and evil association. Obedient to the will of the people, the general assembly of 1895 passed an act entitled, 'an act to establish a board of children's guardians in townships having a population of 75,000 people,' and in 1891 the act was amended and its provisions extended to counties having a like population. When a parent neglects to perform the duties of a parent he should not have the privileges of one. When he beggars and degrades his child, society suffers and it has the right to defend itself in whatever way it may seem best. If the state has the right to punish crime, it has the right to prevent it. If it has the right to imprison or to hang a man, it has the right to remove children from conditions that will make them criminal."

Mrs. M. T. Dykeman, of Logansport, read a paper on the subject of "Dependent Children." The subject was discussed by Mrs. Dykeman in a most interesting manner and all who heard her paper profited thereby.

Mrs. Dykeman thought a child should not be kept in an institution after they were twelve years of age. Good homes should be provided for them as soon as they can be found. Her paper was full and running over with good things.

Rev. Father Guendling, superintendent of St. Joseph's Orphans' home, of Lafayette, had as the subject of his paper, "Catholic Orphanges."

Charity, he said, is the distinguishing incentive which has actuated Christianity, the Christian church and its members. It is the highest, the purest, the most perfect motive for good, the corner stone of the Christian church, for without charity Christianity would not exist. There are 256 sisters of charity in the state. In 1891 they cared for 1,900 poor, suffering and forsaken persons. Their orphan asylums sheltered and nourished nearly 600 children, all of whom look up to and regard the "sisters" with the same love and affection usually bestowed on parents. It is this which makes the management a task of comparative ease. Rev. Guendling stated that the children who are able to learn are taught a trade in order that they may become self supporting.

H. Bamberger, of Indianapolis, a prominent Jewish merchant, was called upon to speak and he replied in a concise but comprehensive manner the charity work that is done by his people. Mr. Bamberger was frequently applauded during his remarks.

TODAY'S SESSION.

This morning's session was opened by prayer by Timothy Nicholson. The election of officers then took place for the coming year, and resulted as follows:

President—Timothy Nicholson, Richmond.

Vice Presidents—W. G. Hall, Terre Haute; Mrs. Clarie A. Walker, Indianapolis; Alexander Johnson, Fort Wayne.

Secretary—J. W. Tingle.

Executive Committee—John Howard, Winchester; Rev. John R. Quinn, Fort Wayne; E. P. Bicknell, Indianapolis.

The paper that attracted the most attention during the morning session, was the one on "How Shall Prison Labor be Utilized so as Not to Compete With Free Labor," by W. G. Hall, editor of the Terre Haute Gazette. The paper contained many very valuable suggestions. Mr. Hall is in favor of having all the school books for the state printed in the northern and southern prison and furnished to the children of the state at almost cost price. He also wanted all the shoes, clothes, etc., for the inmates of the poor houses and different institutions made there. The paper contained many reforms that we hope will some day be put in operation.

Hon. Levi Mock, of Bluffton, who had a paper on "Criminal Responsibility," was not present but his paper was read by Superintendent Glascock, of the School for the Blind. It contained many good points.

Miss Laura Bram, on account of sickness, was prevented being present and her paper was read by Secretary Bicknell.

The conference closes tonight. The last session will be held in the chapel of the Institute for Feeble Minded Youths.

WESTMINSTER WINS.

The Damage Suit Against the Institution Dismissed

Because the Proper Parties Had Not Been Named—Notes in the City Courts.

The trial of the case of Henry Diebold, administrator of the estate of Clara Diebold against the Westminster Seminary for $15,000 damages was begun before Judge O'Rourke and a jury in the circuit court this morning, but owing to an abrupt end almost before it had been fairly underway, by the plaintiff's attorneys dismissing the action.

The father of Clara Diebold, it will be remembered, had brought the action against the Westminster Seminary for damages for the death of his daughter, who had suffered injuries from a sewer gas explosion which occurred at the seminary, on account of an alleged defect in the pipes.

The plaintiffs' attorneys placed Miss Carrie B. Sharp and Mr. Hoffman on the stand to prove the incorporation, when it developed that they had commenced accident against the wrong parties, the association owning the building in which the action had occurred being the Westminster Seminary association instead of the Westminster seminary, as named in the complaint, and that the latter were merely tenants of the former.

The plaintiffs' attorneys, J. M. Robinson and Colerick & Pranee, as soon as the proof developed these facts, dismissed the action. A new suit against the Westminster Seminary association may be instituted, but this will probably not be done.

Zollars & Worden were the attorneys for the defendants.

They came from Lafayette and had also been in Indianapolis, Frankfort, Crawfordsville and other cities. They went from this city to Chicago. Mr. H. G. Paul, manager of the gas office here, said to a SENTINEL reporter that the visit of Messrs. Dieterich and Proal had no special significance. He said they were merely on a tour to look after business matters and see that everything was going all right.

The gas magnate inspected the artificial gas plant in this city.

CLOSE GUESSES.

The Weight of the Cake of Soap Was 795 Pounds.

In the guessing contest on the weight of the cake of soap displayed at the centennial building during the celebration, by the Summit City Soap Works, 1,650 guesses were made. Six of these were remarkably near. The cake was weighed yesterday and the scales registered 795 pounds.

Six guesses were remarkably near, and the prizes were awarded in the order named: Miss Flora Rice, of Lafayette, first prize, her guess was 795; L. A. Worrick, 75 Oliver street, guessed 794 5-6; John Christien, city, 796; Spencer Miles, Huntington, 796; W. A. Sadler, Van Wert, 797, and F. Breer, Lakeside, 797.

DEADLY DIPHTHERIA.

The City Council Takes Up and Discusses the Subject.

An Appropriation Made to Aid in Stamping Out the Disease in This City.

For the purpose of taking some action relative to the prevention of the spread of contagious disease here the city council met last night in the office of Clerk Jeffries, with all the members in attendance except Councilman Barkemeier, Driebel, Kelker and Mohr.

Dr. Geo. E. Stemen and Dr. A. B. Van Buskirk, of the board of health, were also present, as well as a number of prominent physicians of the city.

Councilmen Isseck, Summers and Wellenbrock composed the committee on public health, which was instructed at Tuesday night's council meeting, to look into the matter and formulate some plan for preventing the spread of the diphtheria epidemic reported to the council as follows:

"We, your committee on health, respectfully submit this, and accompanying ordinance, as our report, after hearing the various physicians who appeared before open council, October 22, and also after meeting the committee of physicians appointed by the Allen County Medical society for the purpose of conferring with the council in regard to the condition of health in this city and suppressing the contagion of diphtheria, have come to the conclusion that the board of public health be empowered to give the bacteriologist extra power in order to thoroughly carry out the necessary order.

"We also met with the board of health at their regular session this forenoon, and find by looking over their reports for the month of September that there were eight cases reported to them in the city of Fort Wayne, and further find since this epidemic has appeared, that they have taken precaution and ordered a reasonable quantity of anti-toxine for their use in abating diphtheria, and have executed all the powers that they have to prevent any further spread of the disease.

"We further find that the board of health has not enough money appropriated to hire more than one sanitary policeman to watch over all the territory within our city, and that one man can not take care of it efficiently, so much so, that especially this fall is no where an epidemic is threatening.

We think that if the council will appropriate five hundred dollars ($500) for the purpose of hiring additional sanitary police, and that the board of health will place those sanitary police under the direction of the bacteriologist that our city will soon be almost entirely rid of the contagion.

"As to establishing a hospital for the treatment of contagious diseases, we think it advisable that the Allen County Medical society confer with the board of public health."

Dr. Geo. E. Stemen on behalf of the board of health, addressed the council and said: We have today twenty-six cases in Fort Wayne, all told. We have had during the year, that is, from the 1st of January until the present time, ninety-three cases of diphtheria. Out of 231 cases reported by the different physicians of the city, only ninety-three cases, after being examined by the bacteriologist, proved to be diphtheria, which clearly shows the value of maintaining a bacteriological department in the city. We have had 108 families who have not had to be quarantined after an examination was made by the bacteriologist. Last year, there were at different times, more cases than we have at the present time. In one month last year we had sixty-five cases, while the highest we have had in one month this year, has been twenty-six cases.

Drs. Buchman and G. E. Stemen and Councilmen McDonald and Tigar spoke in favor of increasing the salary of the city bacteriologist, it having been clearly demonstrated during the past summer that a necessity existed for the maintainance of such an office in this city, and on motion of Councilman Tigar the board of health and charities were instructed to increase the salary of the bacteriologist from $60 to $100 per month.

BIG ROBBERIES.

Thieves Make a Couple of Rich Hauls.

E. C. Rurode and John R. Ferguson the Losers.

About $100 Worth of Jewelry and Money Stolen at Rurode's—Ferguson's Loss is Smaller.

The largest robbery that has been committed in Fort Wayne for a good many days was the one last evening when the residence of E. C. Rurode, No. 76 West Berry street, was visited by burglars.

The robbery is supposed to have been committed at about 6 o'clock, while the family was at dinner. Just how the thief effected an entrance to the house is not known. Nobody saw him come or go, but that he was there is a fact.

Two rooms were visited and ransacked. So far as is known the stolen articles consisted entirely of jewelry and money. The rooms from which they were taken were those of Misses Evalette and Emma Rurode.

So far as has been learned the money stolen amounted to about $80 while the jewelry, consisting of rings, pins, watches, etc., runs the total amount up to about $200. It may even exceed that figure.

There is no clue to the thief. He came and made his escape so successfully as to cover up every track.

ANOTHER ONE.

The residence of John K. Ferguson, on West Wayne street, was burglarized about 4:30 yesterday afternoon. A thief entered the back door and ransacked the room of Mrs. Baughman, the house keeper, stealing $20 in money and a gold watch. Then he visited Mrs. Ferguson's room and took a valuable diamond pin off the dressing case. Mrs. Ferguson was asleep in her room at the time and is confident that the burglary was committed about the time mentioned. There is no clue.

LACK OF HARMONY

In the Board of Public Works of this City.

Resignation of Levi Griffith Asked For —Willis Hattersley Needs in His Resignation.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 23, '95.

Levi Griffith, Esq., City:

DEAR SIR: Owing to want of complete harmony as to what should be the policy of the administration in regard to important questions, I deem it advisable to reorganize the board of public works, and notify you that from this date, October 23, 1895, you will no longer hold the position of member of said board. I am, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

C. B. OAKLEY, Mayor.

THE SENTINEL reporter met Mr. Griffith this afternoon and asked him about the reasons for this action of the mayor.

"I know nothing at all," he replied, "except that there is a difference of opinion in regard to public affairs between the members of the board.

"Our personal relations have always been pleasant and I have tried to do my duty as a member of the board."

Mr. Willis Hattersley has also resigned from the board. Mayor Oakley has Mr. Hattersley's resignation in his pocket, but has not yet answered it.

Mayor Oakley said the resignation would be accepted. He has already appointed a man for Mr. Griffith's place but declined to make his name known to THE SENTINEL.

MILLER AND BROKAW

Are to Be Re-employed as Sanitary Officers by the City.

It is understood that since the council has appropriated additional money with which to increase the sanitary police force the Officers Miller and Brokaw will be re-employed. These two officers were dismissed a short time ago because the money appropriated for the payment of their salaries had been exhausted. The appropriation of $500 by the council last night will enable the department to put the two men back in their old positions.

MORE ANTI-TOXINE

Dr. Breyer, the city back-roisolgist, has received twenty bottles of anti-toxine for use in cases of diphtheria among the poor people. This quantity will be sufficient for all needs for some time to come.

ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD.

A NEW DISCOVERY WHICH IS WORTH THAT MUCH

To Anyone Afflicted with Piles.

The Pyramid Pile Cure, the new, painless remedy which has been so remarkably successful in curing cases of chronic piles and rectal diseases, has recently been placed on sale at druggists and it is safe to say that no remedy ever introduced has so rapidly become widely known that it will be no such thing as surgical operations for the cure of this obstinate and common trouble.

Mr. M. C. Hindley, of 620 Massachusetts Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., says, I had been a terrible sufferer from piles for 15 years and no remedies benefitted me, until I saw an advertisement of the Pyramid Pile Cure. I got a package, also a package of Pyramid Pills and used both according to directions. Results satisfied at the immediate relief obtained and now I honestly believe the Pyramid to be the only certain cure for piles.

That you may realize how bad I was, I will say that I was confined to my bed and went before the coroner's physician here who sent my case was a new one to them and wanted seven or eight hundred dollars to undertake a removal. Intense pain and brought on a rupture, and I know an operation would be death in me as my constitution will not stand chloroform. Every one here knows of my terrible suffering from piles and I feel that I cannot praise the Pyramid Pile Cure enough, and the Pyramid Pills also. My husband will join me highly recommending the Pyramid, my daughter was cured by one box only. For several years I weighed but about 90 pounds; now I weigh 150 and feel in perfect health.

This is merely to be the universal testimony of every sufferer from piles who have ever tried the Pyramid. It is the safest, most painless pile cure yet discovered; contains no opiate, morphine, cocaine or anything injurious to the most whatever, hence soothing, healing effect from the first application, and the wonderful curative principle within the tubes of evergrane-sealing treatment. The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per package, and the Pyramid Pills at 25 cents per box.

Let everything be done that can be done to stamp out deadly diphtheria in this city.

FORT WAYNE is entertaining the delegates of two important conventions this week—the state conference of charities and the district convention of the Methodist Foreign Missionary society.

DIPHTHERIA has become almost as virulent and deadly in its character as cholera, small pox and other contagious diseases and the city council, therefore, did the right thing at its meeting last night in making an appropriation to aid in stamping it out in this city and paying for an extra sanitary policeman to look after and prevent its spread.

AS THE result of years of observation, Henry Kenner, of Huntington, discards the goose-bone, corn-husk, muskrat and ground-squirrel as an index of approaching winter, and depends entirely upon an autumn bee. If the hen begins shedding her feathers first at the head, the early part of the winter will be severe. If the tail feathers are first to go, then the close of the winter will be severe. At the present time, however, Mr. Kenner is confident that the beginning, middle and close of winter will be severe, as the hen is shedding all over.

IT IS not impossible that the November elections may create the lead together candidate for president, and leave all the old wheel horses of both parties out of the race. If Campbell shall be chosen in Ohio, as is now certainly within the range of possibility, although somewhat remote, there will be no dispute in the democratic rankings to their leader for 1900. The man who could recover Ohio to the democratic, especially one so well equipped in statesmanship and character as is Campbell, could not have his leadership disputed in the great battle of next year. It is also among the possibilities that the November election may make the republican candidate by presenting a name hitherto undiscussed as among the presidential possibilities. If Colonel Bradley, the republican candidate for governor, shall succeed in Kentucky, as is possible, he would at once forge to the front as the struggle for the republican leadership of 1900.

NEVER before in our history at a city have we had with us such an earnest class of men and women interested in the great work of charity and reform as are represented in the state convention of charities which is in session here. All creeds and all classes are working together for the uplifting of humanity and the betterment of the world. These conventions are prominent in the cities and towns from which they come and are engaged in the busy duties of life, and yet they find time to give their hands and hearts to the work of charity. Such men and women make the world brighter and better and humanity is made the happier by reason of their deeds.

The Great Beats of Evolution.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons have given pugilism its death blow on this continent, and the task would have been much more difficult but for the fact that both of them will rank in history as dead beats in pugilism. Neither of them has cultivated what is called the manly art of self-defense as an art, but have indulged in it solely for the purpose of individual profit, and there will be general rejoicing that they have given the finishing blow to professional pugilism in the United States.

It is doubtful whether either Corbett or Fitzsimmons really desired to fight. It is quite certain that both of them were not in earnest in having the proposed match come off. Corbett was forced by public pressure to accept the challenge of Fitzsimmons, and if it be assumed that Fitzsimmons really desired a slugging match with Corbett, a careful analysis of Corbett's actions and utterances indicates very clearly that he at least intended to evade the battle, and it is quite unnecessary to further assume that Fitzsimmons will shed no tears at the failure to meet his antagonist.

Brutal as is the profession of pugilism, it exacted some measure of respect from people of this and other countries while it was maintained as a distinctive art, but when professional pugilism was prostituted to mere notoriety and money getting, all public sympathy was forfeited, and beyond a few individual followers of the leading bruisers, little interest has been felt in the professionalist. The fact that public sentiment has become so crystallized against it in the entire south, as well as in the north, that the gentlemen have come to the front and forbidden the fight in state after state, clearly shows that all respect for or sympathy with professional pugilism, as illustrated by our present race of pugilists, has perished.

Ever since Corbett and Fitzsimmons became prominent in pugilistic circles they have followed Sullivan by going upon the stage and exhausting them selves to degrade the drama to the lowest plane by mere speculative pugilism. There was some excuse for Sullivan after having suffered his final defeat, going upon the stage as the only means left to him for earning his bread and butter; but Corbett and Fitzsimmons for years or more have crowded the news papers with sensational stories of their prowess and their purpose to fight a great battle chiefly to advertise them in speculative enterprise, and now that the prize fight is declared off, there will be universal disgust with them as notoriety seeking and speculative pugilists.

If Corbett and Fitzsimmons really desired to have a fight to a finish they could have it any day in some secluded spot, without advertising it to the world and with every safeguard for the enforcement of the rules of the ring but both are afraid to go and fight it out unless it can be done with their purses of dollars of gate money to be added to the ten thousand or more put up for the victor. If they want to fight let them go into the woods of Arkansas any bright morning with a score or two of personal friends and have it out. They could meet each other to their heart's content, and probably escape the law by quickly fooling the state. They cannot now fight anywhere on this continent under color of law, and they should either go out and take a regular set-to to settle the championship, or at once abandon pugilism as a profession. Professional pugilism is dead in the United States, and the pugilistic deadbeats, Corbett and Fitzsimmons, have contributed more than all others to his last funeral.

People flock by the thousand to the great religious revival now in progress in Philadelphia, and there are scores of conversions. It is certainly time there were spiritual revivals all over this country to offset the avarice and materialism which has grown so rampant. But the true test of the good done by religious revival is like the value of Catholicism to the signing of the pledge by a drunkard. How much it is worth cannot be told under several years. If the men and women whom this revival has sound to turn from the error of their ways are five years from now found being honest, gentle, clean, righteous and sincerepitable lives and living up to the golden rule, then this will have been a real religious awakening.

Now is the time when autumn leaves are in their glory and autumn skies are at their bluest. The individual who can go into the country or through the wood lands and hear in his soul penetrated to the center of his nature with a sense of the beauty nature scatters all around him free and without cost ought to be dead. He is a clod, an animal lower than the missing link. He would go into the field and dig potatoes on his only daughter's wedding day.

The Social Economist wants congress and the country to awake to the fact that for 40 years the United States stationery has been compelled by the exigencies of the public debt to be a bank of issue and that its issues are large and must be redeemed and retired. The result is premature that it be recapitalized into a suppliant federal bank, which will have at least $2 of assets behind every dollar of notes."

NO MORE DELAY.

The Vehicle Tax Law Will be Enforced at Once.

Mayor Oakley Will Instruct the Police to Attend to All Unlicensed Vehicles.

For the last week or two the vehicle tax license business has been very dull at the city comptroller's office. People have been very slow about coming in to pay their tax.

This fact came to the notice of Mayor Oakley and this morning he said to The Sentinel: "You may say that I will instruct the police to begin at once to enforce the vehicle tax law. Those who have not yet procured their licenses will be properly attended to. The law is plain on this subject and the officers will be instructed to proceed at once with its enforcement."

STATE NEWS.

Howard Workman, four years old, of Bluffton, ate acorns and buckeyes, and died in great agony.

J. R. Rosecrans, of Washington township, Shelby county, was thrown by a fractious horse and dangerously hurt.

Wm. Conway's tobacco-drying house, near Fayetteville, was destroyed by fire and 30,000 pounds of tobacco were consumed.

Anderson Jones, seventy-five years old, of Newbern, and Mrs. Miranda Grant, seventy years old, near Hartsville, have been united in marriage.

Fire at Michigan City destroyed two warehouses owned by the Chicago Canseeding company, and leased by Winterbotham & Sons, for the storage of pork barrels. Loss, $12,000.

The boiler of an engine used in drilling a well for the Kosciusko county infirmary exploded with considerable force, damaging the walls of the new building, but injuring no one.

An English syndicate is negotiating for the purchase of 30 000 acres of land near the Kankakee river, in Lake county, opposite the 10,000 acre tract owned by Nelson Morris, of Chicago. Over $75 000 is involved in the purchase. If the deal is perfected, the tract will be divided into small farms and tenanted by English farmers.

A variety company, billed as Sam T. Jack's Gayety Girls, undertook to give a performance in Fisher's opera house, at Anderson, but the performers were so scantily clad the audience began to hiss and show other signs of disapproval, and while the tumult was at its height the lights were shut off. The females composing the combination were followed to their hotel by a mob of young men and boys, and the scene was disgraceful. It resulted, however, in the show dissolving for the season.

THE FASHION PLATE.

Unlimited favor will be given to velvet next season.

Many of the rough cloth jackets are made in reefer shape.

Some of the new hat forepieces are finished with vest fronts of contrasting fur.

Some very elegant black costumes are prepared for dressy autumn wear.

Two twilled tartan goods make stylish costumes with a coat of plain goods elaborately braided.

Among the novelties for cool weather wear are fur sable collars finished around the entire edge and long pointed fronts with a deep fringe of sable tails.

The great rage for crepon fabrics has resulted, as usual, in the production of cheap grades of it which will turn slowly looking and rusty in two months' time.

The highly fashionable models has condemned the blouse waist, but this is not likely to kill it, for stylish and elegant looking blouses in satin and velvet are among the handsome autumn garments.

Many green and black and red and black color mixtures appear among mixture dress goods, and narrow striped tatlar mixtures in heather colors are used for full traveling and shopping costumes.

The long feather boa is appearing again and is being worn this season in very striking colors—pale blue, rose, amber brown, green and deep yellow. Two boas clinging exclusively with a mourning-up (Ky.) Dispatch in Louisville Post.

MOTHERS and those about to become mothers, should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription robs childbirth of its torture, pain and dangers to both mother and child, by aiding Nature in preparing the system for parturition. Thereby "labor" and also the period of confinement are greatly shortened. It also promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child. During pregnancy, it prevents "morning sickness" and those distressing nervous symptoms from which so many suffer.

ST. VITUS' DANCE.

Child hood's Terrible Nerve Disease.

Getting Fearfully Common—Epidemic Among Children.

How It Comes on and How to Detect Its Approach.

Horror of Children Delicate and Must be Fed.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Makes Them Strong and Well.

The signs of nerve disorders in children are plain. There will be a pale look, darkness under the eyes, pinched features, and restlessness, irritability and nervousness. The appetite is irregular, the sleep restless and disturbed, with tossing from side to side, starting in sleep, gritting the teeth; there is indisposition to play, the child remaining quiet and inactive, and complaining of feeling tired. These are the first symptoms and should be attended to at once, in order to check serious trouble.

If St. Vitus dance or fits are to result, there will be no unusual, rapid winking of the eyelids, an increased twitching of the face hand, arm, leg or some portion of the body, the pale pinched look will be more marked, and the nervousness will grow rapidly worse. If treatment is delayed, there is fearful danger of serious and fatal prostration of the nervous system.

If parents will give their children suffering from any of the above symptoms, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, they will be so rejoiced as Mrs. F. B. Danforth, of 10 Everett street, Malden, Mass., whose little daughter has been cured by this wonderful medicine of severe St Vitus' dance.

MARY B. DANFORTH.

"The winter my little daughter was seven," she says, "she had a long run of rheumatic fever. Then the St. Vitus' dance came on, and she got so bad she could hardly walk or talk. Several doctors treated her, but they did not help her.

"I tried Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and I could see a change for the better before she had taken the first bottle. She took three bottles regularly, and since then I have given it to her when she got tired and was restless at night, but there is now no sign of the St. Vitus' dance about her to say boy, and I trust she will never be troubled with it again.

"I recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura to all those who are suffering in a similar manner."

It is only necessary to say that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless, and may be given to sleeping, restless infants, nervous children, or the most delicate invalids with absolute assurance of beneficial results. It is indeed a wonderful medicine for children, because it makes them strong, healthy, vigorous and well.

It has what no other remedy has, a well known physician responsible for its good action and cures. It is the discovery and prescription of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th St., New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. And he can be consulted in all cases without charge, personally or by letter.

Large Family.

At a recent public celebration in a New England town, at which several state dignitaries were present, an old gentleman of rural aspect propounded many questions in a hoarse whisper to his nearest neighbor.

"Who's that sitting over there in the big chair?" he demanded.

"The governor," responded his neighbor laconically.

"And who are all those men gathered behind him?" persisted the old man.

"Still," replied the other shortly.

"All of 'em?" gasped the old man. His neighbor nodded.

"Well, I swanny!" ejaculated the questioner after a moment's stunned astonishment. "We think we've got a pooty fair show at Kennebec in this town, but if all those fellers are Stills, no near of an age as most of 'em look, I should like to see the rest o' the family. Why, I'll bet you 50 cents they're all Still—what doin's they must have, some Thanksgivin and Christmas!"—Youth's Companion.

The Crown Prince's Pigeons.

General von Versly de Vernois tells a pleasant story about the war of 1870. At Villeneuve-le-Roi he was obliged, for want of room, to refuse an invitation to lunch. A brother officer reached one of the house with a regret, which Versly ate with gusto. A few days later, the old Emperor William said to him at dinner, "That is a pretty affair of yours—my son has told me all about it."

"What affair does your majesty refer to?" asked Versly.

It was this. The crown prince had received the news that two carrier pigeons had been caught, and he had ordered them to be sent to Versailles. On returning home in the evening he found the following telegram:

"Lieutenant Colonel Versly has just eaten them."

They had furnished forth the repast at Villeneuve-le-Roi.—Realm.

WHAT HAPPENED.

Interesting Proceedings From a Scrap Between Hog and Dog.

As I sat on the veranda of the village tavern and looked about me I thought it one of the most peaceful towns I ever saw and said as much to the justice of the peace who occupied a chair beside me.

"Yes, pretty peaceful, but"— he replied as his right hand went slowly back to his right pocket.

"But what?" I asked.

"But yo' don't want to run in when it comes off. You'd best way will be to go through that door and up stairs, and don't come down so long yo' hear any shootin."

"But I don't understand, judge. Is there to be any shooting around here?"

"Settin to be!"

"When?"

"Purty quick, I reckon."

"But what about?"

"Waal," he drawled as he pointed down the street, "yo' see that ornery hawg wallerin in the mud down there?"

"Yes, I see a hog."

"He belongs to Sam Sturgeon, the cooper, and Sam feels mighty tender to'ards that hawg since his wife died. Now, then, yo' see that peeky dawg up the street by that shade tree?"

"Yes, I see him."

"He belongs to Jos Stivers, the harness maker, and Jos thinks so much of him that he makes his children sleep on the fish that the dawg may have a feather bed all to hisself. In about five minutes that peeky dawg will find that ornery hawg, and then'll be a row."

"The dog will pitch into the hog, you mean?"

"Settin to."

"And then"—

"And then Sam Batterson will pitch into the dawg, and Jos Stivers will pitch into Sam Batterson, and the first thing yo' know the hull town will be pitchin into each other. As I said before, yo'd better keep yo'r eyes on that door unless yo' want to run in."

"But, judge, why should a little scrap between a hog and a dog lead to"—

"Thar goes the peeky dawg!" exclaimed the judge as he sprang up and started down the steps, drawing his pistol as he went.

I made for the door and the stairway and reached my room. The shooting opened lively and was well sustained for about ten minutes. When it appeared to be over, I descended to the veranda. The judge was just coming up the steps from the street. He had his hat in his hand, and there was blood on his cheek where a bullet had grazed it.

"Waal, it's all over till next time," he remarked as he sat down and examined his pistol to see how many cartridges were left in the cylinder.

"Anybody killed?" I asked.

"One or two, I reckon, and three or four hurt, but it don't begin to be as lively as usual. The peeky dawg was killed, however, and now Jos Stivers will go layin for Sam Batterson every day in the year, and there'll be an end of public enthusiasm!"—Detroit Free Press.

An inexpensive methyl alcohol lamp was shown recently to Editor Wilhelm by Hollingsworth. It gives as strong the light of a low gas lamp. WORLD'S TIME BEATEN.

A Train Travels 357 Miles in 320 Minutes.

The "Sunset" Round House to be Rebuilt—The Electric Cooperation Complimented.

An Associated Press dispatch from Cleveland, received at THE SENTINEL office at 1 o'clock today, reads as follows: "A world's record breaker on the Lake Shore railroad passed through Cleveland at 8.30 o'clock this morning en route from Chicago to New York. The train left Chicago at 3:30, standard time. It consisted of a locomotive and three Wagner vestibuled cars. The party consisted of Dr. H. Walter Webb, third vice president of the New York Central, who on September 1 last lowered the world's record on that line; his secretary, Mr. Leonard, who was the official timekeeper on the run; General Superintendent W. H. Candler, of the Lake Shore; A. J. Smith, general passenger agent of the line; E. A. Handy, chief engineer; Assistant General Superintendent Blodgett, Mr. F. W. Golde, chief clerk to the general superintendent, and E. B. Cook, chief clerk to Mr. Blodgett. The division superintendents of the various divisions accompanied the party over their respective sections. The train pulled out of the Lake Shore station at Chicago promptly at 3:30, pulled by a magnificent Engine. Every arrangement had been made to expedite the run. Switches were spiked and all trains side tracked for "The Flyer." Across the Illinois prairie, through the Michigan farms and along the smooth stretches bordering the edges of Lake Erie, the flyer sped like a meteor through the night. Brief stops were made at Hillsdale and Toledo to change engines and Cleveland was reached at 8 o'clock and 50½ seconds, or 320 minutes out of Chicago. The distance from Chicago to Cleveland by the Lake Shore is 357 miles, so that the entire trip, including stops, was made at a rate of a mile in fifty-three and one half seconds. Engines were changed at Collinwood in about twenty-nine seconds and the train was rushing on again. The distance between Toledo and Cleveland, 108 miles, was covered in 106 minutes, including five stops and three slow ups.

The run from Cleveland to Chicago was in detail as follows: Chicago to Elkhart, 87 4 miles, in 85 minutes, 25 seconds; Elkhart to Toledo, 133 4 miles, in 124 minutes, 35 seconds; Toledo to Cleveland, 107 8 miles, in 106 minutes, 5 seconds; Cleveland to Erie, 95.3 miles, in 85 minutes, 32 seconds; Erie to Buffalo, 86 miles, in 76 minutes, 16 seconds. Between Erie and Elkhart the train was obliged to slow down for railroad crossings eight times, and to scoop up water once.

The engine which pulled the train over the division was No. 95, Mark Floyd engineer. The engine is a standard Lake Shore passenger engine, eight wheeler, built by the Brooks locomotive works at Dunkirk, N. Y., and designed by Geo. W. Stevens, superintendent of motive power for the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway. The diameter of her drivers is seventy-six inches; size of cylinder, seventeen by twenty-four; weight on drivers, 65,000 pounds; total weight of engine, exclusive of tender, 104,000 pounds.

WILL BUILD A NEW ROUND HOUSE.

The old frame building along the railway tracks, near the city pumping station, which bore the appellation of "The Mystic Round House," has been razed and the Lake Erie and Western company will build on the site a larger and better arranged round house of ten or twelve stalls. Work upon the structure has already commenced and will be completed before the "snow flies." The old round house was built in 1870 and has been an "eyesore" to the residents of Bloomingdale. They are glad it has been torn down.

NICKEL PLATE OFFICIALS HERE LAST NIGHT.

Some of the Nickel Plate officers spent the night in the city, coming down from Chicago on a special train in the afternoon. In the party were General Superintendent A. W. Johnson, General Foreman of Car Inspectors H. L. Miller and C. W. Vaughn, engineer of maintenance of way. Supt. C. D. Graham and Trainmaster S. K. Hall accompanied Mr. Johnson from Chicago to Bellevue. Engineer Ebrhart, with engine 153, brought the train down from Chicago and Conductor John McVey had charge of it.

FINE COLLECTION OF NATIVE TIMBER.

Master Car Builder J. A. Graham and Foreman M. W. Kemp, of the lumber yards, have fitted up an interesting assortment of specimens of timber which grows in this country. The collection is for educational purposes and it is conspicuously arranged in a large case, with glass doors, which is fastened against the wall in the cab department of the Pittsburg shops. All the car specifications of the Pennsylvania company call for first-class white or burr oak, yellow poplar and pine grown upon high lands. It requires an expert to distinguish timber when it has been manufactured into lumber. Pin oak and red oak are similar in appearance to burr oak, yet when it comes to service the former are far inferior and hence will not be accepted by the company's inspectors when measuring lumber. In order that the inspector may be able to distinguish between the different timbers considerable study is first necessary. It was for the purpose of educating the inspectors that the gentlemen named, at a considerable outlay of labor, fitted up this collection, which includes that timber which may not be used in the construction of cars or well as that which may be used. Theodore Kocher is now taking a course in this department, with a view of fitting himself for lumber and car inspection work.

A FOOLISH TOWN.

Julius Kusak, a mechanist in the employ of the Bass Foundry and Machine works, went to New Castle, Pa., yesterday to aid in setting up a large engine in the factory of the New Castle Tube company. The Bass company already has over a dozen of its engines in operation in that "bee hive of industry," as the town is called. Capt. Dick was there during the summer and he says he never saw a more thriving, busy little city in his life. Every hotel, boarding house and even private residence was overflowing with business men, manufacturers, agents and mechanics, and all were busy as bees.

A GIGANTIC CONSOLIDATION.

A rumor is abroad in railway circles to the effect that a movement is in progress with the object of uniting several of the transcontinental lines into one system, extending from Chicago to the Pacific coast. The lines said to be in the deal are the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, the Denver and Rio Grande, the Rio Grande, Western and Northern and the Oregon Short line. The project is of such magnitude that it is regarded with doubt by well informed railroad men. According to the report if the government takes possession of the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific as one system, the consolidating lines named, perhaps with the substitution of the Colorado Midland for the Denver and Rio Grande, is almost a sure thing.

A FIRE ELECTRICAL DISPLAY.

The New York World of Sunday, October 13, contained a six column, illustrated, description of the Fort Wayne Electric corporation's exhibits at the Atlanta exposition. The illustrations included "a Fort Wayne Alternator in Operation in Machinery Hall," "Constant Current Dynamo for 125 lights," "Wood Bipolar Motor," and "Standard Light Transformer." The article is well written and highly interesting, more to those who are not very well versed in electrical matters. It is also very complimentary to the Electric corporation.

OUTLOOK'S DOUBLE TRACKS.

The work of double tracking the Pittsburg road has been resumed and a gang of men are now at work putting down the tracks on the roadbed which was built two years ago between Wheeler and Windsor, a distance of ten miles. When this work is completed other portions of the line will be similarly treated.

Conductor George McCormack, of the Nickel Plate, reported for duty yesterday after a week's lay off to attend the centennial.

Brakeman W. L. Simley, who was injured by a fall a short time ago, has recovered and yesterday took his run on the Nickel Plate.

Among other shipments the electric works sent a 15 K. W. machine to Wooster, O., and a 37½ K. W. machine to Virginia, Ill., this morning.

The Ohio Falls car works on Monday began the building of three hundred box cars for the Pennsylvania lines, to be delivered at the rate of ten a day.

A. B. Clough has been offered the position of general manager of the Central road of Georgia. He now holds a similar position on the St. Paul and Duluth.

Another switching engine and crew was put to work in the Nickel Plate yards last night. George Herion is at the head of it. This indicates a revival of local business.

Operator C. M. Meek is sick and his place in the Nickel Plate yard office is being filled by A. A. Gilson, of the night force. S. McLarnan, of Cleveland, has the night telek.

The Pittsburg planing mills, which have been running ten hours per day since the morning clocked a twelve hour schedule, besides new work there is an unusual account of repairs.

Walter Hosser, of the engineering department, is now filling the office of inspector at the electric works, vice H. W. Smythe, who is detained at home by the serious illness of his wife.

Julius Wantzel, formerly of the Standard Wheel works, but later of the Kerr Murray works, has gone to Indianapolis to take a position in the state house under Capt. Timothy Griffin.

The Vandeibilts have sold a tract of land on the line of the old canal at Huntington, Ind., which is taken to mean they have abandoned the intention of building a railroad along the line.

The Panhandle is so crowd d with freight traffic that it has borrowed a number of engines from the division east of Pittsburg to use until the new ones now building at Altoona are ready for service.

H. D. Gordon, master mechanic of the shops of the Pennsylvania road at Juniata, Pa., has resigned, to take effect October 31, when he goes to New York to take the position of consulting engineer of a railway supply house.

A freight conductor who was discharged during the Debs strike from a Chicago road for abandoning his train, delaying a limited passenger train several hours, claims to have been discharged from twelve positions, owing to the blacklist being pulled on him before his first month was up.

Indianapolis Journal: "A flourishing branch of the ladies' auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has been established at Columbus, Ohio. Fort Wayne, Ind., however, leads in this feature with the brotherhood, having the oldest and most prosperous branch in the country."

Engineer John Carroll is out today testing the valve motion of Wabash passenger engine 77, which was recently put into service on the line. This is one of the best locomotives on the road and it is being put into shape for a fast run on or about November 15, when the annual official inspection tour will take place.

Indianapolis Journal: "The engineers on the Pennsylvania lines are fined for blowing their whistles inside city limits, and the general verdict is that the noise is altogether unnecessary, at least that is what is to be inferred from the way the people who are doing the kicking express themselves. It is altogether different, however, in case of an accident, when an engine crew is called up to answer the questions of a coroner's jury, when the first thing the engineer is asked, 'did you sound the whistle?' The fact is that a train approaching any crossing is expected to give warning in the usual manner, and any failure to do so is taken as evidence of negligence."

TOWANTICA'S BOTTOMLESS PIT.

At Towantica, a little village perched on top of the mountain ten miles west of Waterbury, the New York and New England Railroad company is endeavoring to fill in what is supposed to be a bottomless pit. This pit is exactly on the top of the mountain, at an elevation of fully 1,000 feet. When the route for the railroad was surveyed, it was run directly across this swamp, the nature of the marsh, of course, not being known. It is only about 200 feet from the edge to the other, but when a bridge with it makes up in depth, and it has proved to be practically without bottom.

When this point was reached in constructing the roadbed, it was decided to build a trestle across the swamp as the quickest and most practical way of getting to the other side. Ten piles were dropped endwise in the most preparatory to driving them down to a solid foundation sank nearly out of sight of their own weight. Other piles were placed on top of the first ones and easily forced down to a depth of nearly 90 feet. Upon these piles the trestle, which is about 200 feet long, was built, and it has been a them in the side of the company ever since. Eternal vigilance has been the price of keeping the railroad from disappearing in the swamp, and it was finally determined to fill in the hole. But this is proving to be a formidable feat.

Before the work of putting in gravel was begun a new track resembling a horseshoe was constructed around the edge of the swamp, to be used while the old bridge was being filled in. As the gravel was dumped from a car that the gravel would settle and force the structure out of place, and the precaution was well taken. Work was begun early in the summer by putting in hundreds of old ties to serve as a foundation for the ground. Already 2,000 cords of gravel have been dumped into the hole, but it seems as fast as it can be put in.

Engines are not permitted to cross the bridge any faster. A train of gravel is pushed out on the bridge, the wire cable of a log from plow is attached to the engine, and the plow draws the load, dumping the gravel off on either side. This material is loaded upon the cars by a big steam shovel in a nearby gravel bank, and the Nellie and Lena pulling are but the work of a few minutes. But the porous and false bed of the pit has no earthly appetite for the material that is given it, and to all appearances it will be some time before the yielding soil is made firm enough to hold the heavy trains that must pass over it.

It is a remarkable circumstance that such a place should be located at the peak of a mountain, but it is not without parallel. An almost identical difficulty was encountered by the same company when building its road over the chain of the old Pinkhill mountains, in New York state. The road here crosses a deep ravine, filled by a small pond, which covers several hundred acres. Gravel and rocks that were dumped in the roadbed here during the work of interruption in the winter of 1872 at one time, when a trainload of soil was being unloaded, the filling slipped from under it, carrying several cars into the pond. Three were never recovered, as they went completely out of sight in the mud. While gravel was being fed into this apparently bottomless pit it would disappear as fast as dumped, but an island was gradually rising out in the lake, fully 1,000 feet from shoreline. This phenomenon continued just as long as the supply of gravel lasted, and was caused by the pressure of the soil and rocks that were disappearing as fast as they could be unloaded. This island appears to considerable proportions, and when it stopped the roadbed became solid and has never caused any trouble since. This will probably be the result of the attempt to fill up the hole at Towantica.—Hartford Times.

Traveling by an Elevator.

Among others entering the elevator at a well known Fourteenth street dry goods establishment was a plain, determined looking Irish lady. She was carried up and down the elevator several trips, but evinced no disposition to get out at any particular department. The man in charge finally said:

"Madam, where do you wish to be landed?"

"Love me no more the Grand Central daysons ye can," replied the passenger in question. She was left.—Texas Siftings.

Binks—Yes, that's one consolation we all have. We forget to take any cigars with him, and if he was smoking one bought of the trainboy death must have come as a welcome relief.—New York Weekly.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do are ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Among others entering the elevator at a well known Fourteenth street dry goods establishment was a plain, determined looking Irish lady. She was carried up and down the elevator several trips, but evinced no disposition to get out at any particular department. The man in charge finally said:

"Madam, where do you wish to be landed?"

"Love me no more the Grand Central daysons ye can," replied the passenger in question. She was left.—Texas Siftings.

COULDN'T DRINK COFFEE.

Wouldn't be Put Off With Chocolate or Tea.

"And you might bring me a cup of weak coffee, too," a busy man said to a restaurant waiter when giving an order.

"What makes you call for weak coffee, Sam?" a friend remarked.

"O, I have no business to drink coffee, anyhow, but I don't care for chocolate or tea, and do like coffee, although it raises the old harry with my nerves and stomach."

Many a man fails in business because of his physical inability to attend to it properly. When a man wakes up and looks squarely at himself and his affairs he will break off those habits that weaken his body and prevent him from pushing his plans to a successful issue.

Tobacco and coffee seem so harmless that a man feels they cannot hurt him seriously and for that reason sticks to them day after day until his nerves give out and a long period of nervous prostration sets in. While a man is sick his business goes to—well, experience shows that it don't go right, and that a sick man is a wonderfully expensive investment.

Quit the poisonous habits, and nature will slowly rebuild the broken system without the use of medicines.

It is not hard to give over coffee when one can have Postum Cereal, a beverage which tastes like the finest Mocha coffee, and creams up with the golden brown of rich old Java. It is very nourishing and fattening, and has the pungent, piquant taste demanded by the coffee drinker, at the same time it can be used by children as well as adults.

Nothing which nature furnishes is superior to the grains for making gray matter in the brain and nerve centers. Postum Cereal, the food drink, is made wholly and entirely of the grains. It can truly be said to "make red blood." In comparison with coffee in cost is about one-third. Grocers sell it, or the Postum Cereal company (Limited) of Battle Creek, Mich., send enough for fifty cups for 25 cents.

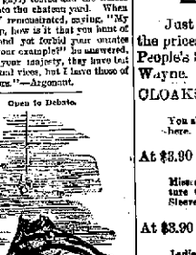
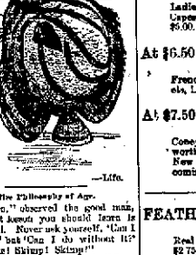
Rejoiced.

Mgr. Bilkon, a French sporting bishop of the seventeenth century, was fond of convivial company. On a Sunday after a pedestrian mass, to which his worldly congregation listened vaguely while perusing the lightest of novels, the bishop arose early lunted and the beaters were led into the chateau yard. When Louis XIV remonstrated, saying, "My lord bishop, how is it that you hunt of a Sunday and yet forbid your master to follow your example?" he answered, "Because, your majesty, they have but their prayers read, but I have those of my ancestors."—Argonaut.



Open to Debate.



—Life.

The Philosophy of Age.

"My son," observed the good man, "the great lesson you should learn in self denial. Never ask yourself, 'Can I get this?' but 'Can I do without it?' Economize! Skimp! Skimp!"

Youth—But, father, what shall I go out of life at the rate?

"What? Do you suppose life is a mere plaything to pander to material and carnal appetites? Say, Your young and strong years are the proper years for toil, for drudgery, for savings."

"But, father, I would read. I would study. I would be enlightened, and as a concomitant must have carefree—recreation."

"Recreation! Why, sir, the years of activity are your working. Life is a day. You must begin toiling in the early morning of life for the late afternoon. Never mind the noonday meal. A crust and a pannike will do. Gather in the harvest. Toil! Skimp! Deny! And tell the children the darkening comes and the old limbs are failing!"

"But, father, what is the reward of all this suffering and self denial?"

"Reward! Think of the supreme joy of sitting in life's gloaming and telling your children and grandchildren about it!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
